KOCH'S DISCOVERY.—The tubercle baccilli were discovered by Prof. Koch, to be constantly present in all cases of consumption. Where the blood is impoverished or impure, there results that constitutional condition known as scrofula, which is characterized by the liability of certain tissues to become the seat of chronic inflammations.

The trouble may start as catarrh in the nasal passages, throat or lungs, and as the membranes become weakened, the tubercle baccilli enter, and multiply, and we have, as a result, that dread disease—Consumption.

Find a perfect remedy for scrofula, in all its forms—something that purifies the blood, as well as claims to. That, if it's taken in time, will cure Consumption. It has been found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder, nothing like it is known to medical science. It's the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, your money is refunded.

The Government of Salisbury Turned Down,

And the Commons Adjourns for a Week.

Salisbury Hands in His Resignation.

Gladstone to See the Queen on Saturday.

Not Since Gladstone Announced His Home Rule Bill in 1886 Had the House Been so Crowded With Members and Visitors.

London, Aug. 12.—The Post says: "A sight more earnest or impressive than yesterday's scenes in parliament has rarely been witnessed within the walls of St. Stephens. Although defeated, the unionists will reassemble undiminished in numbers and unfailing in resolution. Mr. Gladstone will have to deal with the strongest and most united majority that ever assembled in parliament."

The News says: "The government of pledge-breaking coercionists is virtually dead. It is noticeable that the whole of Mr. Chamberlain's remarks were addressed to the liberals. That does not look as if he thought the tories had any future or he anything to gain by going over to them."

The Telegraph says: "The Gladstonians silence in the debate is an unabashed confession that their alliance with the Irish is a sham and an imposture. The sole basis of agreement is a desire to oust the government. They accept without a word of protest the charge of having concocted a bogus majority merely to upset the government and are content to climb into power without waiting a single sophism in their defense. We should pronounce it incredible did not the unromantic parliament report prove that it occurred."

The Freeman Journal, after remarking that the majority against the Salisbury government is ten more than that which rejected home rule, says:

"It is more than a reversal of the decision which handed Ireland over to the rule of coercionists. The effect of the verdict can never be undone. No obstruction from the peers, no ventilation of constitutional conundrums can ever destroy the moral or practical effect of the condemnation of the union by the parliament which set the act of union up. Pitt's work must be amended."

The Times says: "It is a party victory, won on party grounds and to be employed for party objects. No government that has remained in office for six years has enjoyed the same measure of success as the government just defeated. Blunders and disasters, there are none to lay to the charge of the unionist ministry. So comes to an end a ministry which has performed work, the value of which has not been destroyed by the temporary triumph of a system of pandering to the greed and passion of the masses that outdoes the most extravagant of the lights of aristophanic satire."

The Standard (conservative) says: "In the face of challenges from which no body of statesmen with the smallest sense of dignity would venture to flinch, the Gladstonians have sat, uneasily, it is true, but still with closed lips. Sir Henry James drove home the taunts with which Mr. Chamberlain had already stung them.

"The victims sat and tried to smile. They consoled themselves by thinking that the portfolios would reward them for the moral torture they had to endure. It is the hopelessness of keeping the Irish members in temper that must weigh upon Mr. Gladstone's spirits. They voted last night against Mr. Balfour, but it may be the only occasion on which they will enter the same lobby with Mr. Balfour's successor."

The Daily Chronicle (liberal) says: "The single effective point that Mr. Chamberlain made in his speech was that Mr. Gladstone will hold office for six months without defining his policy. Had an autumn session been conceded, as we advised, Mr. Chamberlain must have cut from his speech all of its most dangerous passages. Until the new ministry meets the house next session no man dare say it is seated firmly enough to govern this country with authority and vigor. Until Mr. Gladtone brings his home rule measure forward it would be idle to ignore the fact that his majority is heterogenous."

THE DIVIDE.

The Government Defeated 310 to 350.

London, Aug. 12.—Rt. Hon. John Lubbock (liberal unionist), member for the London university, followed Mr. Chamberlain in the debate on the confidence resolution. He said he foresaw constant conflicts in the Irish imperial parliaments. The powers now claimed in behalf of Ireland would make her independent of Great Britain in all fiscal matters, and would work injury to both countries.

Right Hon. Sir Henry James, Q. C. (liberal-unionist), member for the Bury division of Lancashire, said that there was no precedent to sustain the incoming government in withholding information as to the policy they intended to pursue.

Mr. Gladstone, interposing, said there was a precedent in the course pursued by the government which assumed power in 1841.

Sir Henry, continuing, said there had been a full debate on Lord Melbourne's future policy. (Conservative cheers.) He supposed that Mr. Asquith had been selected to move the amendment to the address because he had formerly demanded that Mr. Gladstone reveal his policy. In defending the unionists' charge of apostacy Sir Henry asked whether Mr. Asquith believed that Bright and Villiers had acted according to any but conscientious convictions. In common fairness to their constituents, they ought to know the provisions of the home rule bill. Mr. Gladstone himself had taught them that it would be dangerous, perhaps destructive, to rely on the Irish vote, yet his majority was purely Irish.

Mr. Chaplin, president of the board of agriculture, then rose to speak, but was treated with such a storm of shouts "Divide," "Divide," that his voice was inaudible. Mr. Chaplin resumed his seat, but the speaker loudly called for order and recalled Mr. Chaplin. The latter in his remarks endeavored to show from past speeches of Mr. Gladstone that the task of preserving the supremacy of parliament and yet giving Ireland control of her own affairs was illusory and impossible.

Mr. Chaplin's remarks were continually interrupted by ironical Irish cheers and renewed cries of "Divide," and the speaker was again obliged to beg a patient hearing of Mr. Chaplin. The house remained quiet until Mr. Chaplin said that that house of lords would survive the attacks of the Morley crews, which observation caused another uproar lasting several minutes and drowning Mr. Chaplin's remarks. When order was restored, Mr. Chaplin offered to lay a sporting wager that the new government would not survive the regular session. This caused the house to break into shouts of laughter. Presently a friend placed a fresh glass of water on a box, where Mr. Chaplin's notes lay and accidentally scattered the papers. The whole assembly joined the Irish in screams of laughter over Mr. Chaplin's discomfiture. Mr. Chaplin complained that such a reception had never before been accorded a responsible minister.

The speaker then rose to put the question on Mr. Asquith's motion and was answered with a thunderous volume of ayes and noes from the respective sides of the house. The strangers having withdrawn from the precincts of the chamber, the speaker repeated the usual formula of putting the question, and was again greeted with sustained and vehement replies. The house divided at midnight. When Mr. Gladstone returned from the lobby the whole liberal party rose and cheered him. The tellers appeared at 12:25 a. m., with the paper containing the numbers showing the result of the division and handed the paper to Arnold Morley, the liberal whip. This was the signal for a volley of liberal cheers and Irish shouts of "Mitchelstone" "Down with Balfourism!" etc., and it was some time before Mr. Morley was able to announce the figures. The result announced was: For the motion 350; against the motion 310. Then there was a fresh display of enthusiasm.

The noise having subsided, Mr. Balfour and the whole body of conservatives rose and amid prolonged acclaims, Mr. Balfour moved that the house adjourn until Thursday next. The motion was agreed to.

If the proceedings in parliament had not been invested with the historic interest attached to the government, the house would not have tolerated the protracted dullness of debate after Mr. Chamberlain spoke. But for some minor members of the opposition seizing a chance to get a hearing, the house would have divided before the dinner hour. With stolid patience, and devoid of every appearance of excitement, the house waited the decisive moment of the division. The gravity of the occasion was seen in the crowds waiting in the palace yard till past midnight, the groups filling the lobbies and packed in the galleries within the house.

For the first time since the night in 1866, when Mr. Gladstone first introduced home rule, chairs had to be brought in to seat the members blocked out of the hall. For the first time in the history of a British parliament did the members muster their full strength within them.

The peers' gallery was well occupied. The diplomatic gallery was so full that Messrs. Lincoln, the American minister, and Hatsfeldt, German embassador, who arrived late, found seats with some difficulty.

As the night wore on, members got restless, and interrupted every speaker with cries of "divide," "divide." They wandered wearily in and out of the house and sent protests to the whips for a vote without delay. But the whips' difficulty was that there were several members who were unable to arrive until 11 o'clock and the house was to be kept going under a mutual agreement until midnight. In the lobby men beguiled the tedium by speculating on the exact number of votes the division would show.

At midnight every possible vote was within the call of the whips and the voting commenced. The tellers for the amendment were Mr. Arnold Morley and Mr. Majorbanks, and those for the government were Mr. Akers-Douglas and Sir Wm. Walrond.

The members, after trooping to the right and left, according to party, soon began refilling the house from the voting lobbies.

The cabinet has been summoned to meet at noon to-day and Lord Salisbury will leave at 1 p. m. for Osborne house. After formally resigning Lord Salisbury will remain at Osborne house for the night. Mr. Gladstone will see the queen on Saturday.

THE WALL FELL IN.

Frightful Accident at Hartford City, Ind.

Five Men Instantly Killed and a Number of Others Seriously Injured.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 12.—One of the most terrible accidents that has happened in Eastern Indiana for years occurred yesterday afternoon, at Hartford City, 20 miles north of Muncie, in Blackford county.

Colonel A. L. Conger, the millionaire manufacturer of Ohio, who owns large land and manufacturing interests in this city and other places in the Indiana gas belt, is instrumental in the erection of a large continuous tank system and glass factory.

The building is of brick and the walls were just being finished. Last night's heavy rain storm badly injured the walls, and a number of men were at work propping one of them up, when it suddenly gave way and collapsed.

The dozen men at work were on the inside of the building, with another wall but a few feet distant.

When the wall fell the men made a rush, but only a part of them could escape, and the following were buried beneath the brick and mortar and instantly killed:

ALBERT INMAN, a laborer, residing at Hartford City.

ALEX MOORE, a laborer, of Hartford City.

CHARLES SAWYER, brick mason, residing at Bluffton, Wells county.

W. H. FOREMAN, laborer, residing at Albany, Delaware county.

JACK PUMMEL, a laborer, Hartford City.

The injured are Cyrus Eppley and Pres Bradshaw, both of Hartford City, and each may die of his injuries. Several hours were consumed in rescuing the bodies, which were frightfully crushed. All the men killed were the support of families with a single exception. When the news was spread the fire bell rang and the greatest of excitement prevailed. Mrs. Moore, upon hearing of her husband's fate, went into hysterics and her death is momentarily expected. One of the injured men, seeing escape impossible, erected a large timber in a perpendicular manner and warded off the blow, but he was completely buried except his head.

WAS A COOL, BOLD THIEF

A New York Crook Sets a New Pace.

Twelve Thousand Dollars Worth of Property Abducted in Daylight.

New York, Aug. 12.—A cool, bold robber drove into the dock where the Diadem had arrived on Tuesday afternoon and presented an order alleged to have been issued by Cohen & Co., of Water street, for 46 bales of tobacco, consigned to the bonded warehouse.

He loaded 25 bales on his truck and drove off, stating that he would call for the remainder the next day, Wednesday.

Wednesday morning, however, a truckman, sent by Cohen & Co., arrived on the dock and was surprised to find only 21 bales remaining. Cohen & Co. were notified and an investigation showed that the thieves who had concocted the robbery had stolen a licensed warehouse truck and had forged the order.

Government detectives and Superintendent Byrnes have been notified. The value of the stolen bales aggregates $12,000.

Capital to the amount of over $1,000,000 is invested in copper refineries using the electrolytic method. There are at present used in them 36 dynamos, having a total capacity of 1,814 kilowatts, and their monthly output is 3,650 tons of metal or 43,800 tons per year.

GRAND MASTER M'CURDY

A Michigan Man at the Head of the Knights.

Brief Sketch of the Newly Elected Officer.

Boston Won for Place of Meeting—Minor Offices Filled—General Doings.

Denver, Col., Aug. 12.—The Hon. Hugh McCurdy, of Corunna, Mich., was elected grand master of the Knights Templar of the United States.

Mr. McCurdy acknowledged the compliment in an address in which he modestly denied his own merit and eulogized the men who had preceded him in that exalted position.

Rt. Sir Judge Hugh McCurdy, thirty-third degree, R. E., deputy master of the grand sacrament and past grand master, past grand high priest, past eminent grand commander, past most illustrious grand master and the grand councillor, illustrious deputy for Michigan and A. and M. rite, was made a Mason in Birmingham lodge, No. 44, in 1850, received the chapter degree in Washington chapter, No. 15, Flint, on February 5, 1864; the council degrees in St. Johns council, St. Johns, December 18, 1866, the orders of knighthood in Fenton commandery, No. 14, Fenton, on March 13, 1866. He is likewise a Noble of the Mystic Shriners and holds membership in Moriem temple, Detroit, and the effable grades of A. and A. rite in Michigan sovereign consistory, December 19, 1886; he received the degree of the Royal Order of Scotland, September 18, 1878.

In 1873 he was elected grand master of the grand lodge by an unanimous vote. He was elected grand high priest of the grand chapter, R. A. A., in 1871. January 21, 1879, he was elected M. I. grand master of the grand council of R. S. and S., of the United States. May 9, 1877, he was elected grand commander of the grand commandery K. T. of Michigan. In August, 1880, he was elected grand senior warden of grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States; in 1883, was elected grand captain general, and in 1886 was advanced eminent grand generalissimo. In 1889 elected deputy grand master at Washington, D. C.

In the A. and A. rite his history is equally interesting and important. In March, 1884, he was elected commander-in-chief of Michigan sovereign consistory, filling the position for three years; November 18, 1873, he was created an honorary member of the supreme council of the Northern Masonic jurisdiction and received the thirty-third and last degree, and the following year was elected grand marshal of the camp. September 17, 1883, he was created and crowned an active member of the supreme council; last September at its last meeting the supreme council elected him their illustrious deputy for that state.

He is a great worker and outside the press of a large legal practice finds time to visit all the grand bodies, to keep making important additions to Masonic literature and the preparation and delivery of eloquent Masonic orations.

At the afternoon session of the encampment grand officers were appointed as follows:

Deputy grand master, W. Larue Thomas of Danville, Ky.; grand generalissimo, Reuben H. Lloyd, San Francisco; grand captain general, H. B. Stoddard, Bryan, Tex.; grand senior warden, George M. Moulton, Chicago; grand junior warden, Rev. H. W. Rugg, Providence, R. I.; grand treasurer, H. Wales Lines, Meriden, Conn., (re-elected); grand recorder, W. B. Isaacs, Richmond, Va., (re-elected).

The remaining grand officers will be appointed by the grand master at the installation in the morning.

It was decided to hold the twenty-sixth triennial conclave at Boston. Ninety-six votes were cast for Boston and 78 for Cincinnati. Grand Commander Mellish of Ohio made a grand fight for Cincinnati in opposition to the report of the committee which favored Boston. Sir Rugg, of Providence, R. I., replied, complimenting Sir Mellish on his energetic stand, but assuring the officers of the encampment that Boston could do all that was promised by Cincinnati. The encampment then adjourned until this morning.

The National Veteran association, which proposes to regain Palestine, at their meeting to-day chose Brother Edwin Asherman, of California, president. The other officers are ten vice presidents, being: Brothers Theodore S. Parvin, Mark R. Muckle, Robert C. Jordan, I. Stacker Williams, John C. Smith, Joseph Kellogg, Richard Lambert, Wm. Abram Love, Lawrence N. Greenleaf and George R. Metcalf; secretary, Wm. R. Bowen, Nebraska; treasurer, George H. McCohan; treasurer-chaplain, Theo. J. Mellish, Ohio; standard bearer, George H. Kimball, Colorado.

Membership in this national organization consists of those who are members of lodges and are also members of some state (or group of states) Masonic association.

The Grand Secretarial Guild of Free Masonry in North America this morning made permanent their organization. This is an association of the Masonic grand secretaries and grand recorders of North America for the purpose of systematizing the secretarial labors of free masonry. Writers of reports on foreign correspondence (reviewers) are honorary members, having seat and voice, but no votes in the meetings. The guild will meet twice every three years at the triennial conventions of the general grand chapter and triennial conclaves of the grand encampment. It may hold a meeting at Chicago next year.

A conservative rule was adopted that no proposition shall be finally disposed of at the same meeting at which it is presented unless by unanimous consent. The officers until 1894 are: John H. Brown, of Kansas, president; Charles E. Meier, Pennsylvania, first vice president; George C. Connor, Tennessee, second vice president; Wm. R. Bowen, Nebraska, secretary, and Edward C. Parmalee, Colorado, treasurer.

Nearly all the grand secretaries and recorders of the United States and Canada favor this organization, which promises much usefulness.

To-day was visiting day among the knights still in the city and not engaged in the work of the grand encampment. When the officers had been elected, and the location of the next conclave finally settled at Boston, the main interest subsided and campaigning gave way to gayiety of the livelier sort.

Boston commandery had departed long before the decision was made, but there were plenty of Massachusetts people left and to-day they are busy at the Glenarm hotel entertaining their callers and receiving congratulations. The callers do not come singly, but in crowds. It has come to be the regular thing for a commandery to form at any reasonable hour and preceded by its own band make a tour of the headquarters. These processions were on the go all morning.

Massachusetts' headquarters probably had the most visitors, but Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, and Michigan all had as much as they could do to care for the crowds that came. To-night the festivities will close with the grand social event of the conclave.

It will be an immense banquet, given to the eminent grand encampment by the Denver knights. Preparations have been made to have it on such a scale as will be hard to equal anywhere. Money has been lavishly spent to procure everything of the best and if the commandery is not satisfied with the result, it will be because they are not to be suited on earth.

The dining rooms at the Windsor will be gorgeously decorated. In fact, all has been arranged to make the banquet a success in every way. During to day the business was to act on the recommenrations of the eminent grand commander and fix up other matters which will always be brought to the attention of such bodies.

Among other things is the setting of the time for the adjournment session at the top of Pike's peak. This is likely to be to-morrow ast he business will be in proper shape by that time.

AT WAUKESHA.

A. F. Barnes and Miss Catherine Hand Married.

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 12.—Last night at the Fountain house A. F. Barnes, treasurer of the Chicago opera house, was married to Miss Catherine Hand, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Hand, of the same city, who was present at the ceremony.

Arrangements for the wedding were made here on a telegraphic order. The groom was in hopes to keep his wedding out of the newspapers and showed considerable surprise when he was asked by a reporter for some of the particulars as to his stay here. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes will remain here a few days before returning to Chicago.

NEWS FROM COLUMBUS.

A Penitentiary Prisoner Loses His Mind.

Military Commission Issued—General Gossip From the State Capital.

Columbus, O., Aug. 12.—The mind of W. K. Morris, who was convicted of grand larceny and sentenced to four years' imprisonment in March, 1891, has been overthrown by unrelenting fear that the evidence of a former crime committed by him will be discovered by the police.

The first notice taken of Morris' failing reason was on Wednesday night. His strange actions then bore unmistakable evidence of insanity. He refused to go to bed, persisted in sitting in his cell with his head resting on his hands. His eyes were riveted on the stone floor, and at all times he muttered: "Murphy wants me; Murphy wants me."

It was these expressions that led the officials to conclude that Morris had been guilty of a former crime, and his mental derangement was due to brooding over the apprehension that it would be found out and he would be obliged to enter upon a second term as soon as the present one expires.

Adjutant General Pocock has issued the following commissions: Hugh L. McElroy, first lieutenant Company H, Fifth infantry, Cleveland, August 1; Wm. R. Perkins, second lieutenant Company H, Fifth infantry, Cleveland, August 1; Jas. C. Ogden, first lieutenant Company C, First artillery, Springfield, August 1; Frank L. Oyler, second lieutenant Company R, Fourteenth infantry, Columbus, August 1; Wm. Klyszynski, second lieutenant Company F, Fourteenth infantry, Columbus, July 20; Charles A. Burrough, captain Company K, Fifth infantry, Cleveland, August 10; David H. Ponds, first lieutenant Company K, Fifth infantry, Cleveland, August 10; Henry H. Parr, second lieutenant Company K, Fifth infantry, Cleveland, August 10; Richard E. Rell, first lieutenant Company A, Fourteenth regiment infantry, Columbus, August 30; Byron L. Barger, second lieutenant Company A, Fourteenth infantry, Columbus, August 1; Jacob Krieger, captain Company B, Sixteenth infantry, Fostoria, August 10.

Ex-Chaplain Triffet was at the penitentiary this morning straightening up his affairs. His accounts were found correct to a cent. The chaplain had occasion during his service to handle about $150 every month for the convicts, and all of his work has been properly attended to. Rev. Triffet was accompanied on his return to Columbus by his wife, which silences wagging tongues that they had separated. They will pack up their household effects and remove to Burbank, Wayne county, the home of Rev. Lewis, Mrs. Triffet's father. Rev. Triffet has not outlined his future course and may possibly take up the study of medicine.

The session of the Carriage and Wagonmakers' International union closed yesterday with the election of the following officers: President, William F. Stuart, Cleveland; vice-president, M. Daughters, Denver; secretary-treasurer, John F. Tonsing, Cleveland; executive board, Charles A. Banaman, Chicago; John Gayton, Columbus; R. J. Buckley, Boston; James S. Baker, Indianapolis. Resolutions were adopted in favor of the abolishment of the contract system; in favor of eight hours as a day's work, and the restriction of foreign immigration.

Murderer Wehrli has made formal application, through his attorney, P. S. Olmstead, of New Philadelphia, for clemency from the state pardon board. The supreme court recently decided that the Tuscarawas county murderer should hang in September. Wehrli in a fit of anger shot his son. He is the convict who laughed when the announcement of the supreme court's decision was made.

In the supreme court has been filed the case of the New York, Lake Erie & Western road against George A. Place, error of the Mahoning circuit court. Place, while braking for the company in 1889, lost an arm. He sued for $20,000, and recovered $8,000 damages. The company denies the liability and throws it into the Pennsylvania company as lessors of the branch.

Gottlieb Fauth, of Erie county, was returned to the penitentiary to-night for violating his parole. Fauth was sent up May 29, 1886, for ten years for attempting to kill his wife and was paroled September 5, 1889. He has been drinking and abusing his family, and complaint being made to the penitentiary officials a guard was sent to Sandusky to bring him back. He will serve nearly seven years longer.

THE H. CLAY KING CASE.

The Letters to the Governor Were Forgeries.

Buchanan Will be Asked to Ascertain Who It Was Played on His Good Will.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 12.—As Gov. Brown of Kentucky and others have said they did not write to Gov. Buchanan praying executive clemency in behalf of King, certain people of this city propose to find out who forged the letters and the governor will be asked to ascertain who duped him.

A telegram was published in a morning paper which represents the governor as making certain threats against the people of Memphis if they burn him in effigy any more.

One of the participants in the effigy burning business remarked this morning that if his excellency would show his face in Memphis he might be treated to a ducking in the Mississippi river or a coat of tar and feathers.

HEAVY STORMS.

They are Sweeping Over Spain and Doing Great Damage.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—Heavy storms are sweeping over Spain and are doing an immense amount of damage. The rain is falling in torrents and is destroying the grape and olive crops. Much damage has been done by the rivers overflowing their banks and in some places the low country adjacent to the river resembles huge lakes.

In Huesca the Isuela river is out of its banks. The flood has already carried away thirty houses and it is feared that other damage will be done.

LIZZIE BORDEN ARRESTED

Charged With Killing Her Father and Stepmother.

The Expected Has Happened in the Fall River Case.

The Young Woman a Physical and Mental Wreck from the Strain of the Past Few Days.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 12.—The latest sensational move in the Borden tragedy was the arrest last night of Miss Lizzie Borden, charged with the murder of her father and stepmother.

She was brought into Second district court room about [illegible] o'clock yesterday afternoon, presumably to give further evidence at the inquest. Miss Borden was accompanied by her sister and Mrs. Brigham. When Miss Lizzie returned from the third inquiry she was a physical and mental wreck, and was conducted to the matron's room. The inquest was adjourned about 4 o'clock.

District Attorney Knowlton and other officials went to the marshal's private office where they remained closeted for two hours. Shortly after 6 o'clock City Marshal Hilliard and District Attorney Knowlton drove to the home of Andrew Jennings, who had been the family's attorney for some years. They returned at 7 o'clock, and went into the matron's room, where Miss Borden was lying on a sofa. The reading of the warrant was waived. The lady took the announcement with surprising calmness. The two women who were with her were much more visibly affected.

The excitment on the street was very great when the news of the arrest became known, although some hours previous it was generally understood that Miss Borden was soon to be made a prisoner. Miss Borden was searched by Mrs. Russell shortly after she was formally placed in custody. All the afternoon a machinist has been at work on the safe at the Borden homestead, but up to this hour he has not been able to open it.

Other witnesses examined at the inquest were Eli Breece, who is supposed to have refused to sell poison to the prisoner; his assistant, Fred Hart, and Frank Kilroy, who was in the store when, it is alleged, Miss Borden made the request. Their testimony is said to have clinched the suspicions of the police, but it is believed in no way to have affected the previous statements made by them.

The city marshal's guard will be kept around the house for some time longer. The police will still keep watch on the actions of Miss Sullivan and John V. Morse. Miss Sullivan is still with her relations. To-night one of the principal officials said the arrest was not the direct result of the inquest, but was made justifiable by it. The warrant for arrest was issued by order of Judge Plaisdell, of the district court, who, from the first, has said he could not believe the girl guilty of such an unnatural killing. It was drawn by Clark Leonard and submitted to District Attorney Knowlton.

Lizzie A. Borden was arraigned in the Second district court before Judge J. C. Blaisdell, this morning, on charges of homicide arising from the killing of her father and stepmother.

The court room was crowded to suffocation by a motley crowd of curious people in no way directly interested, and Miss Borden's friends at court were very few in number.

Mr. Morse, Bridget Sullivan, Miss Emma Borden and City Missionary Buck were present. Miss Borden, the prisoner, was represented by Andrew J. Jennings. Miss Borden was dressed in a dark blue tailor-made gown and wore a black lace hat adorned with a few red berries. She looked in much better condition than she was in last night just before her arrest.

She entered the court room leaning on Missionary Buck's arm. She was somewhat nervous but did not show feeling by either tears or trembling.

She was then asked to plead to charges of homocide and did so, saying "not guilty."

Miss Borden's counsel moved for a trial at once.

District Attorney Knowlton asked for a continuance until Monday, August 22, and it was granted.

Mr. Morse and Bridget Sullivan were then held as witnesses in the sums of $500 each.

Miss Borden was asked to stand up and was committed without bail. She left the court room leaning on Mr. Buck's arm and was closely followed by City Marshal Hilliard, who again placed her in charge of the local matron until a week from Monday.

At that time it is expected that a preliminary hearing will be commenced before Judge Blaisdell.

PLAYING HIS LAST CARD.

Harrison to Stump the Great Northwest.

Republicans Are Greatly Alarmed and Will Work Every Point in the Campaign.

New York, Aug. 12.—A special to the World from Washington says the published program of the president's movements during the fall concludes with the announcement that in October he will make a trip through the northwest.

It has been learned that the trip is considered essential by the republican managers in that section and that extensive arrangements are in progress.

In private the managers confess that the situation there is alarming for their party and the president's trip is the last card.

The president will be surrounded by Senator McMillan, Secretary Rusk, Congressmen Burrows, Henderson, Dolliver, and other lights.

Ex-Senator Spooner is accredited with having suggested the journey. He confesses that no republican victory is to be expected there this fall without the hardest campaigning.

ST. MARYS.

Sunday Closing People—More Gas Wells Drilled in.

St. Marys, O., Aug. 12.—(Special)—The law and cider league is making a strong effort to rigidly enforce the Sunday closing law. They require everything excepting drug stores to be closed. Even livery stables and butcher shops had mutually agreed to close up, but the combine has been broken, as their customers were protesting vigorously.

A bitter war will result before the measure goes into effect.

The Lima Natural Gas company drilled in a strong gas well on the Wisbe farm yesterday with a capacity of 4,000,000 feet daily.

Nine more wells will be drilled by this company in this field at once.

ILLINOIS CAMPAIGN.

Metropolis, Ill., Aug. 12.—The republican state nominees arrived here this morning, every man on the state ticket from Gov. Fifer down being included in the party. Preparations have been made for an immense mass meeting this evening. To-morrow morning the party will once more resume its swing around the circle, visiting a town a day from now until the 25th.

AT CAMP BUCKEYE.

Soldier Boys Getting Down to Business.

Life on the Tented Field Fairly Under Way.

Toledo's Battery Makes a Fine Showing in the Artillery Camp.

Camp Buckeye, Norwalk, O., Aug. 12.—(Special)—As stated in the Bee yesterday, Battery D arrived safely in camp shortly after dinner, and to-day the regular routine of the camp is moving smoothly.

The trip was without any special event, but the boys enjoyed themselves hugely on the train, and with plenty of fun enlivened what would have otherwise been a tedious ride. Plenty of good stories were on tap, and many innocent jokes were played, furnishing no end of amusement.

At Chicago Junction they were joined by the Cleveland and Akron batteries, and they made a most jolly train load.

With Battery D is a splendid colored quartet, and their music and singing was a pleasing feature. The colored lads also furnish excellent entertainment in camp.

Norwalk citizens are very enthusiastic over the camp, as it is the first on the permanent camp grounds. The regiment on its arrival was greeted and welcomed by a committee of prominent citizens, and they are doing everything possible to make agreeable the brief stay of the soldiers.

The Muskingum river crosses one end of the ground and helps the sanitary arrangement and drainage of the camp, as well as furnishing plenty of sport.

The camp ground was formally opened and dedicated yesterday afternoon with appropriate ceremonies, and the camp was christened "Buckeye."

The dedicatory exercises were under the auspices of the citizens' committee, of Newark, assisted by the officers and the regiment.

When the flag was run up for the first time a salute of 21 guns was fired, then there was brief speech making and inspiring music by the band.

As has been stated this is the only regiment of artillery in the militia of the United States, and the officers and men, as well as the people of Ohio, have every reason to feel proud of the organization. All of the officers are perfect gentlemen as well as first-class soldiers, and the personnel of the various batteries reaches a high standard.

The staff officers of the regiment are as follows:

Colonel—Edmund C. Brush, Zanesville.
Lieutenant-Colonel—Edward A. Dana, Cincinnati.
Senior Major—O. J. Hopkins, Toledo.
Junior Major—Joseph C. Ewart, Akron.
Adjutant—Charles T. Atwell, Zanesville.
Quartermaster—Charles U. Shyrock, Zanesville.
Surgeon—Willis W. Hall, Springfield.
Assistant Surgeon—Henry M. Clewell, Cleveland.
Chaplain—Rev. L. B. Moore, Columbus.

The following compose the non-commissioned staff:

Sergeant Major—Dan. F. Reynolds.
Commissary Sergeant—William Scoles.
Principal Musician—John N. Worthington.
Drum Major—Joseph Schmidt.
Leader of the Band—John Zamecnik.

The batteries in the regiment are:

Battery A, Cleveland, Captain George T. McConnell.
Battery B, Cincinnati, Captain Fred J. Herman.
Battery C, Zanesville, Captain Henry A. Leslie.
Battery D, Toledo, Captain George U. Roulet.
Battery E, Springfield, Captain John G. Kennen.
Battery F, Akron, Captain James D. Chandler.
Battery G, Marietta, Captain David Dow.
Battery H, Columbus, Captain Darrow.

The regimental band is from Cleveland and is one of the best in the state. Their music in camp is of a very high grade, and their concerts each evening at headquarters will be a treat.

This camp is under the new regulations, and it is expected that some hard drilling will be done in order that the regiment may become well acquainted with the new order of things. Lieutenant Wilson will keep a sharp eye on things as inspector, and Captain Heistand will make matters interesting on the guard line, similar to his work with the Second regiment at Presque Isle.

The Camp Grounds.

The grounds on which Camp Buckeye is situated are of more than passing interest, as they are located within an octagon of earth that was built by the ancient mound builders or some previous race. This octagon is perfect in shape and proves that the people who erected it had a good knowledge of geometrical figures. The earth works are raised about 15 feet and inclose about 30 acres, part of which is wooded. These earth works were evidently erected for defensive purposes, as at several of the angles are sally ports, and these are thoroughly protected by a curtain of earth.

West of the octagon is a circle of earth, built like the octagon and enclosing about 20 acres. This circle is also a perfect figure and connected with the octagon by a lane between two embankments, and it is said that this lane was once a covered way.

As to the availability of the grounds for a military camp, it may be said that they are fair. A heavy rain Wednesday night left them very muddy and with water standing in numerous places. In front of headquarters is a field of stumps and considerable mud, so that it was necessary to build a board walk to connect with the rest of the camp. The quarters of the batteries are on ground somewhat higher and better and there is a good field for parades and infantry drill, but it rather small for artillery drill. Considerable land adjoining this, however, in all about 140 acres, is included in the grant to the state, and a liberal outlay of money would put it in better condition.

The citizens of Newark are working hard to please, and their hospitality is unbounded and goes far to create a favorable impression for their grounds.

Notes.

Sergeants Tanner and Kapp of Battery D, carry the colors.

Battery D boys seem to have a great "stand in" with the girls.

Grasshoppers are more than plenty in camp and cover everything.

The members of Battery D all wear black sateen shirts and yellow neckties.

Major Hopkins hoisted the flag at the dedication of the camp Thursday afternoon.

The Toledo boys are expecting some of their friends down for a brief visit on Sunday.

The local military company will visit camp Sunday and participate in dress parade.

The batteries did not bring horses with them, but have secured a number at Newark.

Governor McKinley is expected to visit camp Tuesday and will be received with all honors.

The citizens committee tendered the officers a delightful excursion to Avondale, Friday morning.

The advance squad under Lieut. Squires beat the record for putting up tents. They erected 13 in seventy minutes.

Sergeant Norton sports the only whiskers in Battery D, and he says the grasshoppers are trying to eat them off.

The citizens have arranged to give a grand military ball Monday night and it will be the social event of the camp.

There were a large number of visitors in camp yesterday and a large crowd is expected at the dress parade to-night.

Assistant Adjutant General Howe is expected on Saturday and the inspection will probably occur on Sunday morning.

Major Hopkins and Capt. Roulet, of Battery D, are two of the finest appearing officers in camp, and both of them are very popular.

Battery D is fitted out with portable wash stands that are the envy of the camp. They are the invention of Captain Roulet. The Toledo boys also have the best arranged mess tent in camp.

When the train containing the Toledo, Akron and Cleveland Batteries arrived at Newark the Toledo boys were first off the train and had formed on the platform before the others had disembarked.

Battery C, of Zanesville, made the trip to the camp overland, leaving Wednesday afternoon and arriving Thursday morning. They camped out on the way and were caught in a terrific storm, arriving in camp in a drenched condition.

Battery D has with it a great colored corps to attend to the culinary department and other duties. Ther are eight of them, headed by "Baby," who is chief cook, and weighs only 341 pounds. Then there is "Luke," "Hot Stuff," "Donkey," "Black Diamond," the inimitable "Inky" and several more. These boys may have other and proper names, but if so they are not known, and those given above are the titles by which they are known in camp.

RIGHTEOUSNESS,

Temperance and Judgment to Come,

The Subject of Rev. Updike's Discourse at the Tabernacle, Last Night.

The special temperance service at the tabernacle, corner of Bancroft street and Vermont avenue, last evening, was listened to by a large audience. The song service occupied some time, many requests for favorite songs being sent to Prof. Hawes. He sang "Throw Out the Life Line," "My Mother's Prayer," and other songs called for, with great beauty and expression.

Rev. Updike took the text for his temperance address from Acts, 24th chapter, 25th verse: "And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment, to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee."

The preacher said that temperance is a very old word, found in a very old book. Some people think prohibition is the only proper word to use in connection with the abolishment of the liquor traffic. Well, temperance means the lawful use of all lawful things. Prohibition means the prohibition of all unlawful things. The Bible is a temperance book; it is a prohibition book. This address was not to be delivered from a political standpoint, although personally he was a prohibitionist. If he had not been of that faith previous to holding meetings in Kansas, Iowa and other prohibition states, the difference between these and whisky states would have been enough to convert him. The difference was so great that he could not make it more clear than by asking his audience to call to mind the "before taking and after taking" pictures that are so common. Before taking prohibition, gaunt and miserable; after taking, plump and happy.

He would divide the liquor question into three parts: Its friends, its fruits and its finish. Money is the root of all evil. But for this abnormal, unholy desire for gain, the whisky traffic would have no friends. And after a man's conscience has become so blunted that he will engage in this fearful business, the church is powerless as far as moral sunsion is concerned. But the law can reach him—can be made to reach him, and is the church powerless here? No! If every Catholic priest in this city would on next Sabbath morning, preach a straight temperance sermon, requiring his people to take the pledge, and work for the abolishment of this liquor traffic in Toledo; if every Episcopalian rector would follow that example, and every Presbyterian and Methodist and Baptist minister do the same, the thing would be done. The church is not powerless. She has great power. Why don't she use it for the overthrow of this great curse?

There is not an American citizen engaged in this business, for it is un-American. This plea for "personal liberty," as they call it—liberty to make drunkards of your sons and daughters, desolate your homes and debauch society, is from people unnaturalized in the true sense. What the church needs is more back-bone to stand by their principles. What the politicians need is more principle. Oh, don't plead every other minor evil until this monster evil of intemperance is abolished.

The friends of intemperance are ignorance and sin; its fruits are desolation and ruin; its finish is eternal death. No person is safe while it is carried on. It is living by the suffrage of the church people of this country, and the church can, must, will put it down. Go to the ballot box with ballots that shall do away with this curse. Take a strong hold of this monster, and lay him low.

There will be the usual service this evening.

THE CITY OWES TAXES

Which Can Hardly be Paid at Present.

How to Bridge Over the Financial Difficulty Causes the City Auditor and Ways and Means Committee to Scratch Their Heads.

The city is certainly in the hole good and strong, financially speaking, and the deplorable state of affairs never confronted the city's financiers in such bold prominence, and the true situation so vividly revealed, as the meeting of the ways and means committee developed last evening.

As was stated in the Bee yesterday, County Treasurer Hunter had presented a bill to City Auditor Pheatt, for delinquent taxes and assessments due. Mr. Pheatt called a meeting of the ways and means committee to see what could be done in the matter.

Treasurer Hunter and Prosecuting Attorney Barber were present when the committee assembled for business.

Auditor Pheatt stated that the county treasurer had filed a claim against the city for back taxes and assessments, amounting to $30,000 to be paid before next Saturday, at which time the June tax collection would cease, and the books turned over to the auditor. Auditor Pheatt further stated that he had consulted with City Solicitor Watts, and they had failed to figure resources to swing the claims. There had been already $20,000 advanced from the city's share of the June collection to the general fund to pay the running expenses of the various departments, and this had been paid out to the last dollar. To take $30,000 more from the amount to the credit of the city in the treasurer's hands would simply bankrupt the city, and if the amount was paid they might as well shut up shop. He believed that the city should pay its taxes, just the same as any other property owner, but in his opinion it would be impossible to pay at the present time. The claim came upon him unexpectedly, and no provision had been made for it by levy. The only way out was to let the matter go until next fall and provide for the amount by levy.

Mr. Barber stated that the city had been in arrears in the payment of its taxes for over eight years, and the claim had not been pressed unexpectedly, as it had been before the ways and means committee at least a half dozen times. It was just as valid and legal claim as any the auditor would ever have to pay, and some provision should have been made to pay the taxes. The treasurer would be compelled to turn the books over to the county auditor on Saturday, and he had no alternative. If the taxes were not paid by Saturday there would be a penalty of 5 per cent. imposed, amounting to $1,500.

On the close of the June collection the treasurer's office will be conducted under the provisions of the Garber salary law, and the penalty would have to be paid and credited to the county. Otherwise he would have the right to waive the penalty, as it reverted to his personal account when collected.

Then if the amount was not paid at once, Mr. Barber said that he had been instructed to legally proceed and collect the amount. This would entail more unnecessary expense, inasmuch as the law allowed the prosecutor 5 per cent. on all taxes collected through litigation. The committee could save $3,000 by paying the amount at once.

After much discussion, which was barren of any results for providing a way out of the difficulty, the committee took a recess until this evening, when another hitch at the knotty problem will be taken.

CLEVELAND AT THE TOP.

The Forest City Boys Continues to Win.

Not Luck, but Good Hard Ball Playing.

Hal Pointer Wins Another Race from Direct—Nancy Hanks—General Notes.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 12.—Nine thousand shouting, excited spectators saw Hal. Pointer snatch another victory from the gamey stallion, Direct. It was 4:30 p. m. before the event which the crowd had come to see, and for which the people had waited, was announced.

The betting was $25 to $6 in favor of Pointer, but the little beauty, Direct, had captured all hearts, if not all pocketbooks, and received more applause than his swift competitor. At 5 o'clock, under a fair sky and only a slight breeze blowing, the two horses came down the stretch neck-and-neck, and as they passed under the string together the cry "they're off" was heard from thousands of throats, then silence ensued as the great race began.

First heat: Pointer had the pole, and the horses got away from the wire neck-and-neck at a lively clip. They kept these positions to the turn, the Geers put Hal. Pointer ahead a length. Starr made a spurt and brought Direct close to the flank of the gelding. Direct could not hold to this pace, however, and Geers drew steadily away till he had gained a length at the last turn. Starr was fighting gamely; but could not lessen the distance, but a loud and long shout went up as it became evident that Direct was gaining on the home stretch. Starr, however, saw that he could not win, and pulled up a little, and came in a length and a half behind his rival. Time by quarters—3:2 1-2, 1:04 1-4, 1:37 1-4, 2:09.

Second heat: The start was made with Direct at Hal's girth. The horses went as if tied together for the first quarter then Hal. drew away again in the next 100 yards, but on the back stretch Direct drew up again. At the half Hal. spurted to the second turn and Direct was again left behind. At the head of the stretch Direct was going game and fast. Starr put the whip on but could not lessen the distance and the finish was made with Direct a length behind. Time—2:11 1-2.

Third heat: Direct had evidently given up. He went full tilt to the first quarter and then the little stallion very visibly sulked and followed Hal. Pointer around the mile with a devil-may-care expression two lengths behind. One hundred yards from the wire the little beauty gave up absolutely in disgust and jogged in three lengths and a half behind the victor. Time—2:13 1-4.

The $5,000 trotting rac was tame, Muta Wilkes winning with ease. In the 2:19 trot Steve Whipple, a 5 to 1 shot, surprised everybody by winning the first heat and the added purse of $5,000 in 2:14 1-2. The third heat of this race was hardly contested, St. Vincent making a spurt at the close and beating Nightingale, a prime favorite, by a nose. Time—2:18 3-4.

Nightingale won the next two heats and the race.

When Nancy Hanks and her owner, Budd Doble, as driver, was seen approaching from the paddock there was wild applause, which subsided into breathless suspense as the little mare shot under the wire and was off in her race against Old Father Time. The track had been rolled and worked betwee heats alnd the morning, but was still a trifle lumpy, and fully two seconds slower than when Allerton made his record upon it. Horse and driver made a game effort, however, and were greeted with cheers when the strater announced that the plucky animal had kept up to her record and made the mile in 2:09. Time by quarters—:33, 1:05, 1:37 3-4.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Yesterday's events at the grand circuit were closely contested and only two races were finished. The crowd of more than 5,000 people at the park was so anxious to see the third event, the 2:23 trot, settled, that it remained under the tents until after dark, just to see if Virginia Evans was a bigger man than Starter Archer. She was, and so the event went over until this afternoon. The race was the last one called, and Virginia Evans, who sold favorite at 25, to the field at 15, after taking two heats so easily that there was no betting on the race before the third was started, dropped the third heat and then followed it up by dropping the fourth.

Though it was nearly dark, the judges said the race must be finished, and after 15 minutes of resting the horses were summoned. Ramona was anxious for the heat, and showed up, but the other horses were slow in responding and Virginia Evans did not show up at all. As it was then so dark that a field glass would not bring the stables within the line of vision, Starter Archer got even by fining the delinquents $50 and postponing the race. Summaries:

IMITATING CARNEGIE.

The Jefferson Iron Workers Refuse to Recogn'ze the Amalgamated.

Steubenville, O., Aug. 12.—This morning the management of the Jefferson Iron Works sent for the heaters and informed them that the mill was ready to go to work. The heaters inquired whether the mill had signed the scale, and were advised that it had not been nor would it be signed by the management. The management also declared that it would not recognize the Amalgamated association nor any committee thereof; that if the employes had any grievances to adjust or arrangement to make regarding wages or other matters, the management would deal with them individually or as a committee of workmen of the mills. As the heaters and rollers had recently organized a lodge of the Amalgamated association it looks as if there might be a long lockout. Steam was up and the rolls and furnaces were ready to start when the announcement was made to the workmen by the committee. All put on their coats and hats, took their dinner pails and left the works.

ROBISON AND LANG

Have a Little Tiff, Followed by a Love Feast.

It All Comes Out of Desire to Get the Business of Excursionists Coming to Town.

And it came to pass that a goodly number of the citizens of Lima and those of intermediate points on the C., H. & D. moved on to Toledo on a pilgrimage to Put-in-Bay. They came one thousand strong, and he whose name is David and also Robison bethought himself of a glorious scheme. Quoth he, this man Lang will I swipe. So he dispatched an agent to meet the travelers who dispensed for coin tickets good for passage on the vehicles, chariots and barges of the Robison line. The multitudes who held these tickets came as strangers to the Union depot and wandered out into a new land. They were hailed by criers on the highway, one of whom spoke for Lang, saying, "This way, good people; the other line don't go to the boat; this is quickest, shortest and by far the best; don't board the cars of the other party; they haul you nowhere, and ye are lost who take them."

The people heard and divided, one-half taking Lang's cars while holding Robison tickets. And lo, when they found that the passes were no good and they had to pony up th coin of the realm, they waxed wroth and spilled some swear. Thus endeth the first lesson.

Then there came yesterday other tourists to the number of seven hundred from the lands on the Lake Shore Lafayette branch. Lang did know of this and did go David one better, for he despatched his couriers up the line to dispense Consolidated tickets, and sold a goodly number. Then as the depot was the same scene as before enacted. Holders of Lang tickets got on Robison cars, being lured on by the seductive tales of the criers. Then there was also trouble and almost riot. When fares were also asked, verily, cried they, have we not our tickets for which we have coughed up coin? What means this?

Then cried the fare takers, of this transaction we know naught. What ye have paid Lang gooth not here; come, shelleth out, and they shelled, saying things the while.

There were complaints galore, and Robison and Lang were bitterly scored. Here endeth the second lesson.

To-day another big party came to the town, but there were no ticket sellers on the train to greet them, for did not Robison call on Lang last night, and did they not fall on each other's necks and cry out, we have had enough, let us not scrap for business, it work'th not good, and the people are hot, and peace did reign, and halos did set upon their brows, from thenceforth evermore. Let us sing.

TEMPORARILY TIED UP.

A Commission House in Bad Shape for a Time.

New York, Aug. 12.—The Times to-day says the affairs of Osborne Brothers, a well-known produce exchange grain house, have been tied up temporarily, owing to the absence in Europe of Frederick Koerboe, its only member, and the illness of V. A. Wegener, his confidential clerk, who has full power of attorney.

Mr. H. Max Held has consequently taken charge pending the return of Mr. Koerboe, who is expected next Monday, when, according to Mr. Held, everything will go on as usual.

DISOBEYED INSTRUCTIONS.

A Motor Man Killed for His Carelessness.

Denver, Col., Aug. 12.—About 12 o'clock midnight an Eighth avenue electric car and a Circle railroad train came into collision at South Water street.

It was reported at first that one was killed and several fatally injured, but investigation shows that the motorman of the electric car, W. E. Seizinger, is the only one injured. He had both legs torn off and will die.

The collision was caused by the motorman disobeying instructions.

A PENSION AWAITS ISAAC BIRD.

Bucyrus, O., Aug. 12.—Some time ago Isaac Bird, a member of the Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry, applied to Pension Agent W. H. Sheckler, of this city, to secure him a pension. The application was made, but the old soldier got tired of waiting for its allowance and started off, leaving no address. The pension, a good sized one, and a neat sum for back pay, has been allowed, but all efforts to locate Bird has proved fruitless. When last seen he was on his way to Cleveland. A neat sum awaits his arrival.

New York, Aug. 12.—The Freeman's Journal and Catholic Register, which a few days ago stirred up bitter discussion in this city by virtually asserting that a proof of Archbishop Ireland's memorial was stolen from the vatican printing office at the instigation of Archbishop Corrigan of this city, to-day, by an editorial, distinctly disassociates his grace from any connection with the stolen copy.

GRESHAM ONCE MORE.

Reported That He Will Stump for Weaver.

Another Thorn in the Side of President Harrison from His Own State.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—The national people's party headquarters were yesterday alive with enthusiastic workers, all jubilant over a telegram received, and its contents verified by a letter, to the effect that Judge Gresham had concluded to take the stump in the interest of the third party, and would make his opening speech at Indianapolis the latter part of this month.

Chairman Taubeneck received this intelligence from the chairman of the state committee of Indiana, to whom Judge Gresham has written, declaring his intentions, and setting forth his reasons for making a campaign in the interest of Gen. Weaver.

In his report to the national headquarters, the chairman of the state committee of Indiana states that Judge Gresham in apprising him of his intentions, informed him by letter that he did not refuse the presidential nomination because he was not in sympathy with the party; but for a reason that was entirely personal and not political.

"How do you like that for a piece of news?" asked Mr. Taubeneck. "It means that one speech from Gresham, whether he makes more than one in our favor, setting forth the object of our intentions and indorsing our platform, means over 500,000 votes for the people's party that we would have been unable to control otherwise. With a flattering prospect now in Indiana, the encouraging reports received from the south, and with the silver states behind us, we have good cause to feel hopeful."

Chairman Taubeneck was asked to give out the letter, but refused to do so.

Indianapolis, Aug. 12.—Henry Vincent, editor of the Nonconformist, speaking of the telegram from St. Louis announcing that Judge Gresham would take the stump in the interests of the people's party, remarked, with a smile, that it was not much of a surprise to him.

"Last July, when the committee waited upon Judge Gresham, with a view to inducing him to accept the nomination," said Mr. Vincent, "he gave the members to understand that he would make several speeches before the campaign closd. There is no question in my mind that the story is genuine. When Otto Gresham was here about a week ago, he informed me that in a few days he would have some good news for the people's party, and I suppose he referred to his father's intention to take the stump. Of course, the majority of the judge's speeches will be delivered in Indiana, although he may make some in Illinois, where his popularity is fully as great as in this state. It may sound lke an exaggeration, but nevertheless I believe that Judge Gresham will make 50,000 votes for us right here in Indiana. He is in hearty smypathy with the movement, and wields a most powerful influence in the state. None of the people's party men here knew anything furthr of the letter. John Stange, the state chairman, lives off the line of telegraphic communication and could not be reached."

The People's Party.

The regular weekly meeting was held last evening at Rensch's hall on Monroe street, with a fair attendance. Matters connected with the coming campaign were discussed, and a determination expressed to push the work of organization. It may not be amiss to say that the cause will not be benefited by the remarks credited to Mr. C. R. Martin, the secretary. Mr. Martin should be the last man in the city to criticise newspaper men, from whom he has never received anything save kind treatment. It is more than probable that but few reporters receive less salary than does Mr. Martin.

Toledo's Naval Reserve.

This morning's Cleveland Leader has the following anent the reserve:

"New York's success in her effort to establish a naval reserve as a part of her state national guard, has started a similar movement here in Ohio, to establish a naval reserve for use upon Ohio's water front, Lake Erie. Col. J. C. Bonner, of Toledo, of the governor's staff, is at the head of the movement, and has started a list of applicants to membership in the new Ohio navy. A dispatch from Toledo says that he has already 28 names signed to his paper, which is a petition to Governor McKinley, requesting that signers be mustered in as the Ohio Naval Reserve or Local Ohio Naval Reserve.

Will Close Sunday Evening.

The great summer work of the Eleventh Street Church of Christ in the tabernacle on Bancroft street, conducted by Evangelists Updike and Hawes, will close Sunday evening, and on Monday evening a farewell reception to Mr. Updike and Mr. Hawes and a jollification meeting will be held in the tent. A pleasing program will be carried out and refreshments, ice cream and cake, will be served by the ladies, to which the public is invited. These meetings have done a great deal of good. It is estimated that about 20,000 people have been in attendance, and a great number of conversions, beside the good seed that has been sown among those who do not attend churches.

Aground for Forty-Eight Hours.

A party of Toledo people had quite an experience while on a pleasure trip about the lakes of northern Michigan. The following named persons were in the party: George D. Lindsey, F. G. Thompson and wife, Mrs. Carrie Williams, Judge Millard and wife, Dr. Watts and wife, John R. Calder and wife, Hugo Kirschmoeder, Joe Huber and a Mr. Heath.

The party was aboard the steamer Monarch with a list of about 200 passengers. The steamer was coming down the Haministiqua river, and in endeavoring to pass a raft of logs went aground. It was 48 hours before the big craft could continue the trip, and then it was compelled to lighten the cargo.

Toledo Song Writers.

W. S. Stackhouse and Geo. W. Stevens have joined forces, and will hereafter write songs, ballads, etc., conjointly. Mr. Stevens writing the words and Mr. Stackhouse the music. They have just placed in the publishers' hands a pretty ballad, "Once in a Lifetime," that tells of a bachelor musing with his pipe before the grate and seeing in the smoke that curls about a vision of his first love attack. They have also just completed two topical songs, one entitled "I've Suffered from the Same Complaint," and "Where Have I Seen This Face Before?" They will be sung by Comedian Kohnle, of the Wilbur opera company, and will be published soon. Messrs. Stackhouse and Stevens will furnish songs for two new comedies that will take the road next season. "Once in a Lifetime" will be published by D. M. Caughling. It has been pronounced a sure winner by all musicians and singers who have hea rdit.

THE LIGHTNING

Gets in its Work to Annoy Mr. J. K. Tillotson.

J. K. Tillotson, like all mortals, has his share of drawbacks in the carrying out of the gigantic Put-in-Bay enterprise. Even the lightning gets in its work, for it struck J. C. Starr, of Port Clinton, the attorney who was employed in making out the abstract of title for the sale of the electric railroad at the island. Mr. Starr is laid up with the work only partly completed, and Mr. Tillotson cannot close the deal and get his money as he would desire.

THE STREET COMMITTEE.

A Number of Improvements Approved and Contracts Awarded.

Chief Engineer Rockwell, of the Lake Shore railway, appeared before the street committee and submitted plans for a new iron bridge which the company proposes to build on Broadway over the Lake Shore tracks. According to the plans the new bridge will be only about one-half as long as the present structure. This necessitates a raising of the grade to a maximum height of about two feet in the center of the bridge. The matter was referred to the city solicitor and engineer for inspection.

A contract to pave Twenty-second street from Monroe to Woodruff avenue with Hollwood vitrified fire brick was awarded to Wm. McMahon, as was a similar contract to pave Williams street from St. Clair street to Broadway.

The Warren-Scharf Co. received a contract to pave Maplewood avenue with No. 2 asphalt, Medina curb.

Improvement resolutions were approved as follows: To pave Twenty-second street between Washington and Bartlett streets, Hamilton street between Lenk and Ewing streets, to open Wells street from Washington street to Dorr street, to remove certain obstructions on Winthrop street, and to build a catch basin at the corner of Bancroft and Locust streets.

Ordinances to improve streets were passed as follows: To pave Park street from Carroll street to Woodruff avenue, Bartlett street from Twenty-second street to Lawrence avenue, Dorr street from Lenk street to Waite avenue, Floyd street from Warren street to Fulton street, Erie street from north railroad avenue to Logan street, and Walnut street from Bancroft street to Seneca street.

A petition was filed praying for the opening up of Kraus street, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Gill, Leroux and Schmuhl were appointed to investigate.

The committee on claims and accounts approved a big schedule of bills.

REVENUE REGULATIONS.

A New Order of Things to Go Into Effect as to Spirits.

The following letter was received at the revenue office this morning from the treasury department, and makes a change of business on the part of the rectifiers:

To Collectors of Internal Revenue:

The provisions of the legislative, judicial and executive appropriation act of congress, approved July 16, 1892, relating to internal revenue, require all packages of distilled spirits, filled on the premises of an authorized rectifier, on and after the 15th instant, to be gauged marked and stamped by the rectifier. This is to be done under regulations, series 7, No. 7, supplement No. 2, now in press and shortly to be issued.

Consequently all assignments of gaugers for duty at rectifying houses in gauging spirits after rectification will be revoked at the close of business on Saturday, 13th instant.

Stamps may be issued to rectifiers upon application therefor, which, for the present, may be made, in duplicate, upon form 237 adapted for that purpose, in which the packages will be severally described by their respective wine and proof gallons contents, together with the details of weighing or gauging as the case may be. The several numbers of the stamps will be entered in column "1" by the collector, and the copies disposed of as now required by legislation.

Your present stock of rectifier's stamps must have the following imprinted thereon:

"Issued by direction of commissioner of internal revenue under series 7, No. 7, revised supplement No. 2.

.....,
Collector."

Procure hand stamps at once expressing the above, stamp same across face of all rectifier's stamps on hand, and have them ready for issue on morning of the 15th instant. The stamps must be affixed and cancelled by the rectifier and the package marked with his name and place of business, and the name of spirits as known to trade.

The regulations governing the matter will be issued in a few days.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN W. MASON,
Commissioner.

Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The Buffalo grain rate dropped back to 2 1-4 cents this morning. Considerable business was done at that figure. Vesselmen were hopeful that any further decline would be prevented by sending the extra boats for ore.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, Aug. 12.—The Escanaba rate cannot be reduced under present conditions and it is not likely that it will go back to 92 cents this week. Boats in the Lake Superior and South Chicago trade, which usually make triangular trips, by taking Escanaba loads to Lake Erie, have found cargoes by running back light to Two Harbors and Ashland.

The pressure on Escanaba is thus relieved, as the Lake Superior boats are all big steamers.

Duluth.

Duluth, Aug. 12.—Nothing is being done here in grain freights.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 12.—The scarcity of boats and coal keeps freights comfortable and quiet, and rates are unchanged.

Charters—Farwell, Rutter, Wolf, to Milwaukee; Page, to Chicago, all 60c; Allegheny, to Duluth, 35c.

COFFEE ADVANCED.

Cable Advices from Agents in Brazil

To the Woolson Spice Company This Morning States that the Price Has Jumped Half a Cent a Pound.

A cablegram to the Woolson Spice company from Rio Janerio this morning says that the average price of coffee has advanced a half a cent a pound in the last 25 hours.

This is the greatest advance in over a year, and while coffee has been higher the advance was made gradually.

Mr. A. M. Woolson, speaking with a Bee this morning, said he did not believe the price would continue to advance, inasmuch as the crop this year is excellent.

"Coffee," he said, "is higher to-day in Brazil than in America, but prices will soon equalize themselves. No, I do not anticipate any permanent advance."

"The demand for coffee in summer is not as great, I should think, as during the winter months."

"That's where you are mistaken. More coffee is drank in summer than in winter. It seems from the records that it is largely taking the place of more ardent stimulants, such as whisky and wines, but at the table and in general use."

By the way, the company's new building on Huron street will, when finished, be a model in every respect. The seats for the 250 girls will be upholstered, and instead of rough-hewn benches there will be handsome hardwood tables. The walls are being cemented with a new composition, and altogether it will be an elegant and commodious workshop.

In Persia, the approach or the dread of cholera, in the cities, shuts up all the drinking places. Has the enlightened west anything to learn from the effete east?

Cuba has wired to Spain petitioning for a suspension of the new Cuban tariffs. The Havana merchants say, otherwise, they will have to shut up shop. It takes a great country like our own to thrive in spite of tax burdens.

To rescind the invitation to Congressman Breckenridge, to deliver the oration at the world's fair opening, because he voted against the appropriation would be a bad blunder on the part of the directors. It would advertise abroad that votes meant bribes both as to honors and money.

Have we got to endure all this agony again: Pago-Pago and Pango-Pango have started on their rounds. If it be true that peace is made with Canada and the Cuban affair refused to amount to anything, this Samoan coaling station is all the "foreign complication" the administration has for present campaign uses.

The New York World has published, located and substantiated the record of 500 strikes in protected industries since the McKinley law went into effect. This may not prove that the tariff is responsible for strikes, but it does prove, beyond a shadow of contradiction that it does not obviate them or in any way benefit the wage earner.

Grand Master Hugh McCurdy, we salute you! Mr. McCurdy is a Wolverine, of good Scotch ancestry and has a string like this to his name: Rt. Sir Judge Hugh McCurdy, thirty-third degree, R. E., deputy master of the grand sacrament and past grand master, past grand high priest, past eminent grand commander, past most illustrious grand master and the grand councillor, illustrious deputy for Michigan and A. and A. rite, etc.

The Cobden club, in its annual report, has this paragraph:

With regard to the tariff question in the United States many competent critics doubt whether the competition of the United States in the neutral markets of the world under a regime of free trade, would not injure the manufacturers of the United Kingdom more than free intercourse between the United States and Great Britain would benefit them.

There's considerable thought in the suggestion for genuine students of political economy.

Denver has a right to spread herself "on this occasion," or any other. In 1870 the city had less than 5,000 inhabitants. In '80 less than 36,000; in '90, not quite 125,000, and in this blessed year of our Lord, '92, it records nearly or quite 135,000. Twenty-two years is a brief space of time for such growth. Denver claims to be the largest manufacturing town west St. Louis. Some of our down-east relations will carry new ideas of the wild and woolly west home with them.

The Chicago Herald aptly says, congress has successfully arranged to control the buying for the people. They have fixed plans for regulating prices, and declaring what goods shall be permitted. But the selling is another thing. The producer may sell where he likes and must take such price as the natural law of supply and demand gives him. The only class of persons in this country that have the buying of the people arranged by law at their command, is a class of manufacturers. The idea is hardly consistent with American professions of freedom.

And what has the employment of one class or another class of printers in the New York Tribune or in the Utica Herald office to do with the election of a president and vice president for nearly 70,000,000 people?—Philadelphia Times.

The vote of one printer "has as much to do with the election of a president or vice president" as the vote of the lordliest millionaire. This is, professedly, a free country, and the printers as well as the government beneficiaries have a right to speak their minds and to persuade others to their way of thinking, so long as that persuasion remains within legitimate bounds.

IN REJOICING MOOD.

Especial pains are taken by the organs of the iron and steel trust to parade the fact of Manager Frick's happiness and heartiness. In fact, he is almost jolly when talking to reporters of the Carnegie victory. Mr. Carnegie knew his man when he put him in charge of his works at Homestead. His obstinancy, refusing either to yield or to arbitrate, has cost the state of Pennsylvania millions of dollars, many lives have been lost and the cost to the locked out laborers and their families means millions more. The Carnegies' lawyers say, smillingly, "the firm can stand it," and Mr. Frick is in a state of rejoicing, albeit he is guarded in his office, in his home and in his passage to and fro, by armed detectives. He is not threatened by his locked-out workmen; they are ready to-day for conference and arbitration, but the Hungarians and the Italians brought here to do "pauper labor" for the iron and steel lords and the masters of the coal and coke regions—these are the men who are threatening the life of Mr. Frick. They have been deceived by glowing promises as were the laborers whose vacant places they were hired to fill and they show resentment after the manner of their kind. When the employers of foreign pauper labor are obliged to dodge the bullets of anarchists, they are meeting the logical results of their own commercial crime.

In view of these incontrovertible facts and their dreadful consequences, it would seem that an American citizen with a heart in him, in any measure responsible, would be at least serious and concerned, rather than "hearty, happy and rejoicing."

A FAIR SUMMING UP.

Congressman Holman has had printed his speech in the congressional record, in which he reviews, in detail, the appropriations made by the last congress and by its predecessor. No river and harbor bill was passed last session, and without this bill included, the appropriations of the session just ended have been $54,682,909 less than those of the preceding one, and but for laws enacted by the Fifty-first congress, the requirements of which had to be met, the further sum of $79,527,602 could be deducted. In conclusion Mr. Holman says:

The Fifty-second congress has authorized the construction of no new buildings; that its appropriations were 2 per cent. less than the average of the Fifty-first congress; that more offices have been abolished than were created and more salaries reduced. I admit that the results of the present session of congress will not fully meet the expectations of the democratic party, but there are facts that the country will consider in comparing the appropriations of the present session with those of last congress.

He reminds the people that the house had to meet the remarkable activity of powerful lobbies and the determined opposition of the administration and senate combined against retrenchment. Both because the party purposes to stand by its extravagant practices, and because it, as it was frequently expressed, it wanted to "put the democratic congress in a hole." This copy of the Record should be in the possession of every man who attempts, honestly, to understand the situation, or who purposes to make any use of the comparisons instituted.

If Mr. Pullman has really invented a method of ventilating his sleeping cars without giving passengers asthma from dust, or neuralgia from drafts, he deserves to be knighted and decorated. Now if he will invent some plan for taking the soup-smell out of the bed linen and the rocks out of the pillows he will be borne on the shoulders of a suffering multitude to the clime of everlasting gratitude.

A Chicago paper sort o' says: What if a few hundreds have been wasted in the world's fair management; it goes that way with everything else. Even nature makes miscakes and burns a barn with lightning when she might have burned an uninhabited pig sty.

Now, Thomas Platt,
Where are you at?
It's time to come under grandfather's hat.
—Chicago Times.

And what is the matter with that?

OPEN MEETINGS

To Become Popular With the Trades Union.

The Working Girls Will Hold a Public Meeting—The Labor Day Souvenir to be Prepared.

It was announced at the meeting of the Central Labor union last evening, that on next Monday evening the working girls will hold an open meeting, with the object of increasing their membership. There are a large number of working girls in Toledo, for whom a society of this kind could do much in a financial and social way, and the union ought to number hundreds. The working girls' open meeting should be well attended.

On next Friday evening, one week from to-night, the wood working machinists will hold an open meeting in Carptenters' hall.

Little business besides routine was transacted at the meeting last evening. The new charter from the American Federation of Labor, under which the Central Labor union is now working, has been very handsomely framed. Mr. Reynold Voit, treasurer-elect, submitted his bond last evening, which was approved.

Mr. W. Schmidt was named by the Labor day committee to attend to the souvenir of the day.

The Stationary engineers will hold an important meeting at Turley's hall to-morrow evening.

The Building Trades council will march by their loneselves on Labor day.

Toledo Typographical union, No. 63, will hold their monthly meeting at Carpenters' hall, next Sunday afternoon.

Regular weekly meeting of Lathers' union, No. 5396, at Druid hall to-night.

The plasterers hold their weekly meeting to-night.

Joan of Arc assembly holds its regular weekly meeting at free employment office this evening. It will be an important meeting and every member should be present.

Superintendent Murphy, of the free employment office, has prepared the following statement of the business of the office for the week ending August 11:

	Males.	Females.
Situations wanted.....	44	34
Help wanted.....	17	42
Situations procured.....	17	26

"Why are you like Salisbury?" is the conundrum first at Mr. Murphy this morning.

LOOK AT THE LIST

Of Good Shows Coming Next Season.

The Charity Ball, Tar and Tarter, Stuart Robson, Margaret Mather, Reah and Others Will Drop In.

The coming season promises to be a lively one in Toledo theatrical circles. Many good attractions are booked at Wheeler's, numerous plays for the people will hold forth at the People's, and bang up variety will hold the boards at the Wonderland.

Among the attractions booked at Wheeler's for the season of '92 and '93, are the following:

George Thatcher's Tuxedo company, Underground, Ship Ahoy opera company, Charles Frohman's Lost Paradise, J. K. Emmett, James T. Powers, Hoyt's Texas Steer, Graham's Larry the Lovel, Frohman's Charity Ball, Reed & Collier's Hoss and Hoss, James O'Neil, Jennie Yeamens, Robert Downing, Reah, Nioba, Hoyt's Hole in the Ground, Tar and Tartar opera company, Natural Gas, Sadie Scanlan, Paul Kauvar, The Ensign, W. H. Crain, Smart Robson, Margaret Mather, Evans and Hoy and others.

Among the attractions booked at the People's are the following: Barrel of Money, Pulse of New York, George Monroe in Aunt Bridget's Baby, Wilbur Opera company, Midnight Alarm, White Slave, Under the Lion's Paw, The Dago, Grime's Cellar Door, Siberia, Carroll Johnson, Two Sisters, The Stowaway, Mr. Carthey's Mishaps, Spider and Fly, Edwin Arden, A Breezy Time, Howard Athenium company, Chas. A. Gardner and others.

At the People's.

The People's will open with A Barrel on Monday, August 22. The play is from the pen of Herbert Hall Winslow. It is a character comedy with sensational and farce embellishments. The story is an evryday one, about the fulsity of a trusted employe, the repentance of an erring uncle, a poor girl who becomes an heiress, a country boy hero, and the usual climaxes. In the third act Roxy, the heroine, is nightly tied by the villain to an immense revolving belt and as often saved in the nick of time by the boy hero, to the delight of the big audiences attracted to the theater. The piece is fortunate in being interpreted by an exceptionally strong company of players. The comedy work is entrusted to clever performers, while the serious aspects of the piece are not permitted to suffer.

JOCKEY DEMPSEY DEAD.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Jockey John Dempsey, who fell from Fauntleroy in the fifth race at Garfield park yesterday, and was run over by a half-dozen horses, died from his injuries at the county hospital this morning.

OHIO'S SOCIETY LEADERS,

As Pictured and Sketched in Demorest's Magazine.

Two Toledo Ladies Shown in the Group of Fair Ones.

The pictures of eighteen of the "Society Leaders of Ohio" are pictured in Demorest's Family Magazine for September. The descriptive sketches accompanying the pictures are written by Lida Rose McCabe. In the prelude, she says:

The social life of Ohio is a reflection of the State's commercial solidity and political prestige. New England intellect, Pennsylvania thrift, Virginia conservatism, the crucible forces of Washington's army that began life anew beyond the Alleghanies, are still the basis upon which rests the social, no less than the material prosperity of the state. While the accumulation of great, nay, colossal fortunes has, since the rebellion, visibly changed the social aspect, and more or less modified the standard, a probe beneath the surface reveals the potent influence of pioneer ancestry.

Mrs. Randolph Warner, of Columbus, "daughter of the wealthiest man in Central Ohio," is given place of honor. It is a beautiful face, entitled to the distinction. Mrs. James E. Campbell's is one of the fairest faces of the many fair ones of the groups. Mrs. W. H. McKinley, Mrs. Edward A. Greene, of Zanesville, Mrs. Samuel A Conklin, of Canton, Mrs. S. A. Conger, of Akron, Mrs. W. Scott Bonnell, of Youngstown, Mrs John A. Logan, jr., of Youngstown, Mrs. J. O. Moss, of Sandusky, Mrs. Chas. A Merz, of Sandusky, Miss Anna Mott and Mrs. John B. Ketcham, of Toledo, Mrs. Asa Bushnell and Mrs. Robert Christie Bancroft, of Springfield, Mrs. J. A. Stoddart, of Dayton, Mrs. Alexander McDonald, Mrs. Howard Hinkle and Mrs. Alice Williams Brotherton (president of the Woman's press club), of Cincinnati—these are the honored ladies. The pictures are exceptionally fine in execution and lovely enough in form and expression to awaken a glow of state pride in the breast of one who is stranger to them all.

Miss Anna Mott is given, half-length figure, profile view, reading a letter. Of her it is said:

Varied race, educational and commercial elements lend peculiar interest to the social life of Toledo. Much of the Quaker charm of the late scholarly Richard Mott, an early pioneer of Maumee Valley, permeates the palatial home over which presides his only child, Miss Anna Mott. Closely related to Lucretia Mott, a member of the Century club of which father founded, an advocate of woman suffrage, an extensive traveler, having twice put a girdle round the earth, Miss Cady, as she is affectionately called, is rarely without guests. Cordial, unaffected congeniality characterizes her entertainments, and she delights to honor, with a card, children of old friends whom loss of fortune or personal affliction forced out of the social swim.

The only entire figure in the number is that of Mrs. Ketcham. She is shown, sitting in her cozy and beautiful parlor, in rather neglige costume and attitude, a graceful and pretty picture. The accompanying narrative reads:

Of the ultra-fashionable set is Mrs. John B. Ketcham. Her husband is a rich banker of Toledo, and a member of an old, substantial family. Mrs. Ketcham was educated in Paris. She is an accomplished musician, a fluent linguist, a daring equestrienne and fond of driving spirited horses. Mrs. Ketcham is a petite, willowy woman of vivacious manner and an interesting talker. Elegance and originality characterize her dressing and rare jewels lend splendor to her evening toilets. She is noted for her elaborate and unique dinners which are a feature of Toledo's fashionable life. Her summers are spent abroad, and her winters at home are enlivened by notable guests.

THE AUSTIN FACTION

Secures First Blood in the Medical College Fight.

Judge Lemmon Issues a Restraining Order Against Drs. Gardiner, Havighorst and Others.

The medical college fight has been carried into common pleas court.

Proceedings were instituted this morning by the Toledo Medical college against William G. Gardiner, Henry S. Havinhorst, Henry G. Blaine, Jno. Murphy, Jno. Patterson, Jno. J. Dunnegan, Frank S. Green, Oscar Myers, Samuel S. Thorn and Eberth, to procure an injunction restraining the above named defendants from interfering with the college building and property of the plaintiff, and from all further interference with the trustees in the conduct of the affairs of the concern.

The plaintiffs sets up that the defendants have entered into a conspiracy for the purpose of preventing the plaintiff and its lawful trustees from the use and occupation of the college building.

That on August 8, 1892, the defendants forcibly and unlawfully broke into the college building and refused to leave the premises.

Judge Lemmon granted a temporary injunction, and for the present, at least, the Austin faction is on top.

CONTRACT AWARDED

For the Construction of the Baumgardner Building

At the Corner of Oak and Summit Streets to Mat Theis for $35,477—To Commence Work at Once.

This morning Chas. T. Lewis let the contract for the construction of the Baumgardner building, at the corner of Oak and Summit streets, to Mat Theis for $35,477. This figure does not include plumbing, heating or passenger and freight elevators.

The building will be a handsome one architecturally. The ornamentation will be unique and striking. The building, which is to be five stories and basement or six stories on Oak street, has been fully described in the Bee heretofore.

The contract calls for completion by December 15. Contractor Theis will commence tearing down the old buildings on the property at once.

The new buildings will be a credit to the city.

MR. A. M. WOOLSON

Purchases the Baumgardner Building,

On Monroe at the Corner of Albion Street for $14,500—An Illustration of the Increase in Value of Property Thereabouts.

This morning L. S. Baumgardner sold his block of stores and offices at the corner of Monroe and Albion streets to A. M. Woolson for $14,500.

Mr. Baumgardner will put up another building on the lot adjoining, with three large stores on the first floor, and two floors of offices, etc., above. Already applications for the rental of the stores have been made.

That property is rapidly increasing in that portion of the city is illustrated by the fact that the ground and building cost Mr. Baumgardner less than $8,000 about three years ago.

STRUCK BY LIHTNING.

Buzzards Bay Witnesses a Fatal Bolt.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., Aug. 12.—The Keith and Dunbar cottage at Monument Beach, occupied by George Alden, the Brockton shoe manufacturer, was struck by lightning this morning and Mrs. Alden, aged 28, was instantly killed. Mrs. and Mrs. Alden were assisting their two children to dress.

In an adjoining cottage, occupied by the family of Rev. S. S. Seward, of New York, the bolt went through the tower and killed the cook, who was cutting wood in the cellar. A son of Mr. Seward, in the tower, received a severe shock.

HENRY COUNTY K. P'S.

Grand Picnic on the Maumee River.

The Boys Play a Joke on Hon. John Winn—Narrow Escape—Several Accidents.

Napoleon, O., Aug. 12.—(Special)—Yesterday at Reed's grove, some eight miles down the river, was observed the annual picnic of Henry county Knights of Pythias. The majority of the knights were from Napoleon, but the number who rolled in from Malinta, McClure, Grand Rapids, Liberty Center, Deshler and even Defiance was not small. Speeches were made by several K. P.'s prominent in the order, Hon. John Winn among others.

Of course the Defiance boys did not feel like passing the occasion without perpetrating one of their life-sized jokes, and Winn was the victim.

On the route to the grove a steamer being used for transportation, in some way his manuscript was secured and a "ten of hearts" pasted on the back of one of the inside pages. When the speaker was using his manuscript the hearers the seers were not long in sizing up the "ten" with no little amount of merriment.

While swimming in the river near Reed's grove yesterday one of the picnickers, Frost Fisk, had a close call from drowning. He was in at least 20 feet of water and 40 feet from shore when he was seized with violent cramps and sank, loudly shouting for help.

A companion, thinking that he was fooling, endeavored to mimick him by also calling for help and splashing in the water. The result was that a third, W. E. Decker, of the News, knew not which to assist or whether or not both were fooling.

He was not long in deciding, however, for Fisk soon arose to the surface and again disappeared.

Decker hastened to his assistance, but was unable to reach him before he went down for the third time.

Hastily diving the rescuer caught the nearly drowned young man and with almost superhuman effort towed him to the shore, being compelled to swim nearly the entire distance, as the water was eight feet deep a yard from shore.

By the time the shore was reached willing hands laid Fisk, who was black and unconscious, on a table and worked nearly half an hour before he was resuscitated. It was several hours before he was in a condition to be moved.

Fred Yackee, a man about 50 years of age, while climbing on a wagon yesterday evening near the canal bridge, fell, his left leg catching in the spokes. The horses having suddenly started, which occasioned the fall, the leg was fearfully broken in two places. Dr. Maerker was at once summoned and the fractures reduced. They are very severe, and many a week will roll around before Mr. Yackee will be able to be about.

D. Delventhal, a farmer living in Napoleon township, broke his collar bone by falling from a straw-stack yesterday. He had climbed to the top by means of a ladder, when the bottom became displaced. He slid down the stack, striking terra firma with great force on his head and shoulder. Dr. Maerker administered to the man's wants and he will recover, though time will fail rather heavily on his hands for some weeks to come.

Dr. Maerker was also called yesterday to reduce similar fractures as the above on a child belonging to Chas. Harrison, living south of the marsh near the sash factory. The little one was playing on the roof of a shed and fell a distance of 10 feet, breaking its collar bone.

A 6-year-old daughter of John Flogans was bit severely by a dog yesterday, but prompt medical assistance from Dr. Maerker will serve to avoid anything serious.

BAD WRECK.

An Engine Jumps the Track and Crashes Into Two Trains.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—An engine on the Rock Island road was thrown from the track at Twenty-second street this morning by a misplaced switch and crashed into a Lake Shore suburban train and a Rock Island suburban train that were passing that point and going in an opposite direction.

Engineer Whipple, of the derailed locomotive, and three of the employes of the Rock Island train were severely but not dangerously injured. Many of the passengers were slightly injured.

TO BUY THE BONDS.

A Syndicate to Help Out the Gas Trustees,

In Order That They May Purchase Pumps—The Old Time Workers Behind the Project.

The old-time workers in the pipe line cause have started a movement looking to the purchase of sufficient gas bonds as will enable the gas trustees to purchase a complete gas pumping apparatus.

Five gentlemen have agreed to take $1,000 each, and it is understood that in this way $25,000 of the bonds can be sold.

This, with the $20,000 that the sinking fund trustees will perhaps be able to purchase, will enable the gas board to secure the pumps.

The trustees are considering the advisability of trading the bonds for pumps, but in the present uncertainty this would naturally entail somewhat of a shave and consequent loss.

The board is bound to do something, and that promptly, if it would supply one-half its consumers with gas the coming winter.

THE MEINERT BLOCK

To be Changed Into a First-Class Hotel.

V. H. Ketcham Has a Plan That Promises to Pan Out a Success.

Tine Ketcham has a plan for a new hotel that promises well.

So many hotels and theaters have been built in this city recently that vacant property is being held at a premium.

This, however, promises to be a go. Mr. Ketcham owns the Meinert block on Oak street, between Summit and St. Clair streets, and fronting on all three. He has been figuring on the plans for some time, and yesterday informed a number of gentlemen that he had about decided to put his plans into execution.

The location is an excellent one for a first-class hotel. The block, as it stands, is one of the finest in the city and just laid out for a hotel.

RIOTERS SENTENCED.

Boise City, Idaho, Aug. 12.—Judge Beatty yesterday imposed sentences varying from four to eight months imprisonment in the county jail upon nine of the Montana rioters and discharged eleven of them.

The Baltimore society for the protection of children from cruelty and immorality has refused a bequest of $100,000 because a condition of its acceptance was that the society should change its name to the Wm. C. Conine society and extend its work to the protection of animals.

DEATH IN AN ICE CHEST.

Singular Fate of Two North Lansing Boys.

They Crawled Into the Death Trap to Play and the Lid Closed on Them.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 12.—Earl Price and Arthur Kurtz, both of North Lansing, met with a horrible death in a most singular manner late yesterday afternoon.

The boys, each of whom was about 8 years old, were playmates. The boys were missed late in the afternoon, and although large crowds of neighbors searched for them until midnight, no trace of them was found.

About 1 o'clock this morning the Price boy's father thought of an unused ice chest at his house into which his children had at times crawled to play, and on opening the chest the two boys were found dead.

The interior of the chest was but two feet five inches long, 18 inches wide and 21 inches deep. The bodies were crowded into this small space facing each other.

It was evident that after the boys squeezed themselves into the box their moaements caused the cover to fall and the clasp on the outside cover closed over the staple, fastening them in so that escape was impossible.

TO COMPEL PAYMENT.

Suits Entered in 'Squire Austin's Court,

In Which a Number of Teledoans are Interested—An Insurance Assessment Involved.

A number of suits were filed in Justice Austin's court to-day, which involved some interesting and important features in the insurance business, and the points will doubtless be carried to the supreme court of the state.

Some time ago the Buckeye Mutual Fire Insurance company, of Shelby, Richland county, went into liquidation, and Edwin Mansfield and Wm. H. Hahn were appointed trustees.

After a big legal fight involving the stockholders' liability, the court ordered an assessment.

The suits filed in Justice Austin's court this morning are against parties holding policies in the concern. The following Toledo firms and individuals are in it: Ames, Bonner & Co., Northwestern Elevator and Milling company, Mitchell & Rowland Lumber company, B. F. Wade company, Plobert, Reeves & George, Darius St. John, Geo. F. Tanner, Union Manufacturing company, Martha Locke, John Wise, William Peter.

The cases will be contested to the last resort by the defendants. Petition has been filed separately against each party, and on Tuesday, at 2 p. m., assignment for hearing will be made.

AT A BIG PREMIUM.

Seven Million and a Half Offered

For the Five Million Half Dollars Voted by Congress to the World's Fair.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—When the board of directors of the world's fair meet this afternoon it may take some action in regard to the disposition it will make of those 5,000,000 souvenir coins.

Yesterday Treasurer Seeberger received a number of new offers to pay premiums on the desirable half dollars, the largest of them being an offer to pay $7,500,000 for the lot, which is worth in currency $2,500,000. This offer, which is the largest yet received, came from the Horton company.

A BOULEVARD.

Cleveland Capitalists to be First in Line.

The Park Project Stirring Up Landowners, and Some Solid Improvements Will Follow.

Toledo has parks well on the way, and now a movement is on foot to establish boulevards by individual citizens. In conversation with Mr. John F. Kumler this morning, a Bee learned that W. J. Boardman and Dudley Baldwin, two prominent business men of Cleveland, are in the city in the interest of this project.

These gentlemen own 92 1-2 acres of land adjoining the Ketcham farm recently purchased by the park commissioners, for park purposes. The tract fronts on Bancroft street and Upton avenue.

Messrs. Baldwin and Boardman propose to build a boulevard through their farm, providing the park commissioners will cooperate with them and extend it through the park. They offer to build the boulevard through from Dorr street to Bancroft street.

CONJUGAL HAPPINESS.

A School for Its Promotion Suggested by a Spicy Writer.

Next winter we are to have—what think you? Why, a school of conjugal happiness. Already we have schools of ethical culture, schools for physical culture, schools for aesthetic culture, but no one has had the necessary courage to found a school of conjugal happiness.

What will they teach in such a school? Everything that will tend to make marriage a success.

The pupil will be taught the art of pleasing man. She will be educated in sexual aestheticism, and put through a course of scientific wooing, supplemented by 11 weeks of affectional dynamics and spasmodic polemics. In addition to all these, the pupil will be thoroughly grounded in the theory and practice of motherhood, which will include seven weeks of tuition in trained nursing, so that a husband with an attack of bilious colic will no longer be an object of terror to the young wife.

In a word, a graduate of the school of conjugal happiness will be fully prepared to enter upon the career of a married woman with no dread of anxious fears.

She will fit the man's household to a charm; she will be a thousand times more poetic than the green girl, more fascinating than the widow, more piquant than the divorcee. The marriage cannot do otherwise than succeed.

The children from such a union will be examples of perfect human development, and the founders of the School of Conjugal Happiness anticipate a long waiting list by the end of the first year, so anxious will marrying men be to secure for a wife a girl holding a diploma of the institution.

All the scheme needs is liberal endowment. This will be sure to come from thankful husbands in good time.

When the Dakotas have done, New York proposes to undo, and to make divorces odious.—Clara Belle in Cincinnati Enquirer.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Clear the Streets.

To the Editor: The street commissioner and chief of police, whose duty it is to clear the streets of filth and anything that obstruct the thoroughfare, would confer a favor on pedestrians by cleaning out the crowd of loafers who block up the walk on Superior street opposite Hotel Hamilton. These creatures have chairs ranged on each side of the walk, leaving but a narrow passageway, and that is slimy with tobacco juice. This human baggage is ten times more obnoxious than the boxes and barrels with which many streets are blocked up, and women, whose way I'es post this place, prefer going blocks out of their way rather than pass this crowd of detestable bipeds. The loafers have the run of court house park, hotel corridors, etc., etc. Clear the respectable thoroughfares for the respectable citizens.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AMERICANS IN EUROPE.

They Now Number One Hundred and Fifty Thousand,

According to Estimates—They Travel Greater Than Ever Before—Immense Sums That They Spend.

The number of Americans now in Europe is doubtless greater than has ever been known in the history of steamship companies, remarks the European edition of the New York Herald, and the battalions of pleasure seekers from the New World are constantly augmented with the arrival of steamships from the transatlantic ports. It would be impossible to give the correct figures, but a round estimate of 150,000 will not be far off the mark. This, of course, includes the permanent American colonies of Paris, London and other European capitals. The return flight has not yet begun and will not be in full swing until the middle of August. Therefore the American tourist season in Europe may at this moment be considered at high tide. The great hotels of Paris, London, Berlin, Brussels and Vienna are crowded with Americans. Every capital, every town and every historical village in Europe points to its visitors from across the sea.

In London.

London, of which I can speak with a knowledge born of investigation, is, metaphorically speaking, ready to bust from overcrowding, due in every sense to the thousands of American tourists that are landed almost daily at Great Britain's half-dozen ports. It would be difficult to measure the inculculable losses that would have befallen English tradesmen had they not stemmed the tide of misfortune by the timely and happy dam of American trade. Regent street and its great shops swarm with the class of shoppers that one is wont to see on Twenty-third street or Broadway. The monetary standard is the dollar, and the language that of Uncle Sam.

Figures talk! Let us see how this basis of 150,000 Americans is made up. The great rush began with the opening of the season about April 1. The arrivals at that time found an advance contingent of, say 75,000, including the "permanents." The season from April 1 to August 1, constitutes 17 weeks. In this time the steamship companies will have brought over in round figures about 16,000 persons, this number being divided as follows:

North German Lloyd, New York to Southampton and Bremen.....	5,350
North German Lloyd, New York to Genoa	1,000
Hamburg-American, New York to Southampton and Hamburg.....	5,900
Hamburg-American, Baltimore to Hamburg	1,000
Cunard, New York to Liverpool...	5,100
Cunard, Boston to Liverpool.....	2,400
White Star, New York to Liverpool	5,850
Inman, New York to Liverpool....	5,850
Guion, New York to Liverpool....	3,500
Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, New York to Havre.....	5,850
Anchor, New York to Glasgow....	3,400
State Line, New York to Glasgow.	2,500
American, Philadelphia to Liverpool	2,000
Wilson, New York to Hull.....	1,000
Red Star, New York to Antwerp..	3,500
Netherlands American, New York to Rotterdam.....	3,000
Thingvalla, New York to Christiania	1,000
Total	60,000

The figures are based on averages secured from the passenger lists and are as nearly accurate as it is possible to make them. They leave a balance of 15,000 to be accounted for. These can be drawn from the innumerable small ships, steerages and a hundred and one roundabout ways that cannot be detailed.

How Much Have They Spent?

And now arises the question, "How much money have these Americans spent?" Leave out the 75,000 resident Americans and those who are in Europe for a year or two. Take the daily expenditures of the 75,000 tourists, those that come here with letters of credit to be exhausted down to the last cent. No one who has traveled in Europe will say that $7.50 per day, including hotel expenses, railway fares, and purchases of all kinds, is anything but reasonable. At this rate, 75,000 people have managed to throw into the lap of clamoring Europe the tidy sum of $562,500 per day, or $3,937,500 per week. Going still further, in 17 weeks, from April 1 to August 1, they will have increased this amount to the fabulous sum of $67,037,500. And here lies the reason for the continued shipments of gold from America. Nine-tenths of the people who visit Europe are armed with letters of credit, and it is to meet the demands made by these credits that the increased shipments of the metal are due. When the tide of travel goes out the flow of gold will cease.

How Will They Return?

The question of the return trip presents a series of perplexing situations. It was no difficult matter to come over. There was a long season of weeks ahead of the intending visitor, and the delay of a week or ten days made not much difference. Everybody wants to get home at the same time. The favorite dates are those between August 15 and September 15—four weeks. Nearly all the steamship officers declare that they are almost fully booked to the beginning of the winter. I know of dozens of cases where intending passengers have held off in the belief that there would be endless opportunities after August 1 to book passage who are now glad to take what they can get so as to get away by the end of next month. True, there are many berths yet unspoken for the later weeks of the waning season, but they, too, will soon disappear.

COSTLY WALL PAPER.

Lottery Blanks Each Representing One Dollar Adorn a Newspaper Office.

"You talk about your high-priced wall paper," said a man at the hotel the other day, "but a room that I saw in San Francisco took the cake for luxury in that direction. It was a local room of the old Alta Californian on California street, which has now gone to the dogs.

"That room was probably 40 feet by 25, and its walls boasted probably the most costly paper of any in the country, not excepting Vanderbilt's Fifth avenue mansion.

"It cost over $5,000 to paper three sides of that room; the fourth was unfinished at the time the paper suspended. What was it, you ask—velvet or gilt paper? Not a bit of it, but plain white with green markings, principally, though here and there a brown tinted patch showed.

"The room at first blush looked for all the world as though plastered with dollar bills, and so it was, in fact. They were lottery tickets, both of the Mexican and the Louisiana issues, and each of those 5,000 or more bits of green and brown paper represented a hard-earned dollar.

"Warren, the assistant city editor, now court man on the Post, started the thing. He drew about 20 blank prizes one month and slapped them all on the wall in front of his desk. The other boys were quick to catch on and in less than three years three sides of the room were papered with the tickets."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

A daughter of Lord Dundas one day fell into the Serpentine in Hyde Park, London. A rosy-cheeked Irish lad, who happened to be near by, jumped into the water and rescued the damsel. Next day Lord Dundas sent for him to thank him, and, being pleased with his appearance, inquired of the lad what favor he could do him. With instinctive humor the boy said: "I wish Your Lordship would make me a Scotchman." His lordship, not in the least questioning his prowess in the matter, replied with great gravity: "I canna, my lad; I canna gie ye the prudence."

ALL HYENAS NOT COWARDS.

Illustrative Encounters With Them in Somaliland.

Hyenas are noted as great cowards, but I have come across a few exceptions, says a writer in the London Field. When about sixty miles from Berbera, on my return journey, I camped close to a Somali zareba. Soon the head men came in and asked me to shoot a pack of six hyenas, as they had killed a great many sheep and goats. That morning they killed two sheep and the same night jumped into the zareba and carried off a sheep and badly bit a young cow.

Next morning I saw two Somali men running after a hyena with spears, but he only kept about 100 yards in front, and as soon as they stopped he did the same and had a look at them, and on their returning he quietly walked on.

I was busy with a Koodoo head at the time, so did not go after him, but evidently he wanted to see what I was doing, and so came toward me. When about 100 yards off I put a bullet through his shoulders.

"So much for No. 1." He knew how far a Somali could throw a spear, but not how far a rifle would carry.

Next day at noon we heard a great shouting about a mile off. After a while I made out that a lion had killed one of my camels. I took the 4:50 express and started off. On arriving on the scene I found it was not a lion, but a hyena, and that the camel was not dead but badly bitten on the hind parts.

A woman said the hyena was behind some low bushes about 150 yards off. The bushes, three in number, were only two and a half feet high and on an open plain. As the Somali men had been making a great noise I said nothing would stop there. However, I went to have a look, and when about seventy-five yards off the bush, up came a head and took a look at me, and then went down slowly like a lion crouching. I went twenty yards closer, when up came the head to have another look. I took a steady aim, and next moment an express bullet between the eyes of a hyena finished him.

He was a very large and fat beast, with a good coat of hair, and had a good portion of a sheep in his inside.

Now I could imagine one going for a camel if starved, but not when fat, and at midday, with a man and woman accompanying the camels—a thick bush within 200 yards on the left, if he wanted to get away. Instead of doing so he kept to the open country, with three bushes, hardly enough to conceal him, and then held his ground until shot dead. I think it showed great pluck. End of No. 2.

In the night the men heard some of the others howling, so at daylight I went over to where I shot No. 2, and there, sure enough, were three more hyenas.

Just then one of the three picked up the dead one by the back and carried it in his mouth, with his head thrown up to keep it off the ground, only the feet trailing. He took it about sixty yards and put it under a bush. I lay still for a few minutes, and then the vultures came down, but the three hyenas drove them off. I then sat up and one of them saw me. As they were only 125 yards off, however, I had a good shot, and a hollow bullet behind the shoulder finished No. 3. The other two made off, so I left them.

In the afternoon one of my Somali men said there was a hyena keeping off the vultures. I went out with the glass and saw he had taken the last dead one about 200 yards up a stony hill with some large rocks on the top. He was just going back to the rocks, after having made a sortie upon the vultures. I then went up toward the rocks, when out he came and took a good look, standing facing me.

It was a long shot, over 200 yards; but by good luck I put a bullet in the center of his throat, killing him dead. This made the fourth. Next morning I went to take a look, and there was one with the dead one shot the day before.

BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

A Sunken Ship Discovered Embedded in Sand—Supposed to Have Been Wrecked Centuries Ago.

New York, Aug. 13.—A discovery of interest to those who study the shifting of shoals by ocean currents and tides was made last week four and three-quarter miles northwest of Sandy Hook. The hulk of a ship sunk many years ago was found embedded under 240 feet of sandy clay on Orchard Shoals by I. H. Hathaway & Co. of Philadelphia, who was building a lighthouse on the spot for the government. In order to secure a supply of fresh water for the workmen a driven well was sunk and about 1,200 feet of iron piping driven into the bed of the ocean. At a depth of 240 feet the pipe struck the deck of the buried ship. The sharp cutting lower edge passed through her deck and hold and through the hull and again into the sand. Pieces of oak decking in good preservation first came to the surface. Then came handsful of resin, which it is thought composed the ship's cargo.

It is estimated that the ship lies at a depth of 250 feet below the surface of the sand mountain. How long the vessel has lain in his present position can only be conjectured. The shoals at this point have been filling up rapidly for years. It is probable that it took more than 200 years to put such a load of sand over the vessel, and perhaps longer. The theory is advanced by some that the vessel was manned by Norsemen and sunk long before the voyage of Colum

THE TYPEWRITER'S SONG.

One—two—three pages.
Oh, dear! it will be ages
Before I am through.
(Rattle, tattle, rattle) what's the date?
(Thump, thump, thump) April 8,
1892.
(Rattle, tattle) Mr. Jere—
Miah Rusk, Secretary
Of Agriculture, City,
Oh, goodness, what a pity!
Now, where on earth is that eraser?
I should have written H-o-n
Instead of Mr.—Now, then
Let me see, (Tattle, rattle) Dear Sir:
(Rattle) Please send me a choice collection
Of your personal (ting) se- (rattle) lection
Of garden seeds, and—now I'm stuck;
Can't read these notes—Oh, hang the luck!
Bilge—bleege—bilge, Oh, yes, I see
And oblige, (rattle) Yours respectfully,
Tattle, rattle tattle,
B-r-r-r-4-bl-rattle.

—Puck.

BEESWAX.

There is said to be a treasure amounting to 150,000,000 francs in gold in the Julius tower of the fortress of Spandau in Prussia.

The Italians invented the term influenza in the seventeenth century, and attributed the disease to the influence of certain planets.

Only a few years ago there was not a mile of telegraph in the Chinese empire; to-day there is more than enough to girdle the earth.

Instantaneous photography has revealed the fact that the former method of representing lightning as a fiery zig-zag was entirely false.

The loco weed is abundant in western Kansas this year. This plant has a peculiar fascination for cattle, upon which it exerts an intoxicating effect.

One of the natural curiosities of Asia is the Great Salt Desert of Persia. It is many miles in extent, and is a solid incrustation of salt several feet thick.

A stone weighing about 103 pounds was recently found on the farm of Charles Morrill, at Grafton, Vt., that contained 113 distinct kinds of rock.

By an ingenious apparatus recently invented, it has been shown that in Glasgow on a wet morning there are 7,500,000 dust particles in a cubic inch of air.

Cranes, storks and wild geese fly fast enough to make the trip from northern Europe to Africa in a week, but most of them rest north of the Mediterranean.

The famous Treadwell mine in Alaska, which has yielded more than $3,000,000 in gold bullion, was purchased by the man for whom it was named for $300.

Bibliomaniacs are usually men. Women have a rage for collecting old china, old lace, fans, miniatures and the rest, but not often rare and curious books.

Bagpipes are generally ascribed to Scotland, where they have been in use for a long time, but it was an instrument upon which the ancient Greeks and Romans played.

A bundle of spider webs not larger than a buckshot and weighing less than one-half drachm would, if untangled, make a line long enough to reach from Philadelphia to Boston and back again.

Card playing was a favorite diversion as far back as Shakespeare's time. The principal games then played are now unknown, such as "primers," "gleek," "maw," "ruff," and "knave out of doors."

Several Amazons of the king of Dahomey will probably be seen in the Dahomey village, which will be established at the world's fair. Sixty or seventy natives and their manner of living will be shown.

Many English surnames end in ford, ham (house), lea, ton (farm), and by (dwelling), from the old practice of naming persons after their native place. Aylesford, Grimston, Habersham and Ormsby are samples.

Many newspapers in different parts of the country are offering round trip tickets to the world's fair as premiums for subscriptions. Tickets are also being offered in schools, by the school authorities or by private individuals, as prizes for excellence in scholarship.

There is no missionary in Afghanistan, with her 6,000,000 people. Annam, with 5,000,000, has only Roman Catholic missionaries. India has one missionary to 275,000 people; Persia, one to 300,000; Thibet, one to 2,000,000.

Queen Victoria, since the beginning of her reign, has only signed one death warrant, which was for an execution in the Isle of Man, the act passed for relieving her majesty of signing death warrants having, by an oversight, not included that part of her majesty's dominion.

It is proposed and ably supported that something be done at the time of the world's fair, presumably under the auspices of the world's congress auxiliary, to bring about throughout the world the universal adoption of a decimal system of weights, measurements and coinage.

The principle followed by Mr. Thwaite in his appliance for the prevention of smoke in steam generators consists in the admission of a secondary air supply through a wire screen of specific mesh, adapted to offer the requisite frictional resistance to the passage of such air, so as to accord accurately with the "pull" on the grate, which remains unaffected.

Two new alloys are being used in England for boring and cutting tools. They equal steel in hardness and retain their temper when heated by friction. These alloys are made of pig iron, ferro-manganese, chromium, and tungsten in proper proportions, melted together under charcoal and calcined borax, the mixture afterward being treated to small quantities of nickel, copper, and aluminum.

It is claimed that a person dreams almost from the first hour of existence. Let a babe have but one experience, either that of light, warmth or the more pleasurable one of suction, and in its sleep that experience may and probably will be recalled. If a child's mouth be watched in its first sleep its lips will be seen to be in motion, the action of sucking is going on—the child is dreaming of its first meal.

A vast amount of very valuable information, descriptive, statistical and other, concerning the several states of the Union, is being collected for the world's fair. Quite a number of the states are preparing topographical maps. Others will show statistical maps, photographs, etc., and many are having compiled, for free distribution at the fair, books of from 300 to 500 pages setting forth a mass of information as to resources, productions, population, education and advantages to settlers, and for the investment of capital.

The untutored savages who dwell on the banks of the Amazon and collect rubber for the American trade are by no means so guileless as might be supposed for their remoteness from centers of civilization. The rubber they send to America comes in lumps of irregular size, which are purchased by weight, and it frequently happens that a promising chunk is found to contain as a nucleus a stone of three or four pounds' weight and as big as a man's fist. The savages evidently know the difference between weight and measure, and utilize their knowledge to the disadvantage of their pale-faced brethren.

THE FOX KETTLE.

On the beautiful shores of the Bay of Odawarra there lived many years ago a young couple. The man was out with the boats fishing for the greater part of the week, while his wife strove to make some little additions to their precarious income by the sale of fruits and sweetmeats to travelers. The fisherman was an honest, sober, hard-working fellow enough, but he had one great fault, and this was a rooted disrespect for the gods of the country; and no amount of persuasion on the part of his wife, or remonstrance on the part of his neighbors, or argument on the part of his priest, could convince him that the deities were anything else than—to translate exactly the Japanese expression—"arrant humbugs." "What good are they to us?" he would say to his wife; "I may kneel until my legs are sore; I may pray until my voice is hoarse, but for all that the gods don't send the fish into my nets, and I don't see that we get any better off for all my devotions." His wife, who was a soft-speaking, gentle-minded woman always reproached him for the contempt with which he treated the gods, and would answer: "Nay, Kikuchi, we have health and strength, and surely they are more worth than all the riches of the world."

They were sitting one evening over the charcoal blazier, the children were playing on the beach ouside, and the kettle was boiling merrily.

Suddnely the charcoal shifted, the kettle overturned, scalded the woman's hand and put out the fire. Kikuchi, who had met with put poor sport during the day, and who was not in the best of humors, broke out into a towering passion, seized the kettle and flung it out on the beach. "Ever since I bought this horried thing," he cried, "it has done nothing but give us trouble; so there it goes, and we'll get a new one," and he ran out and kickd the kettle angrily about until it disappeared in the waves. When he returned he found his wife in an agony of tears. "What is the matter, O Hana?" he asked. O Hana did not reply, but merely pointed to a dark corner of the room. Kikuchi looked, and saw a large fox staring at him with his red, sparkling eyes. Seizing a wooden wine-measure, he hurled it at the intruder, but the animal was too quick, and the missile crashed through the paper window into the street. "O Kikuchi! Kikuchi! what have you done?" cried O Hana. "You've driven Kitsune away!" (Here it should be explained that the fox is held in universal reverence by the Japanese people. The good Inari, patron of rice, fish, and daily food, is especially fond of assuming the guise of a fox, and his appearance is looked upon, according to circumstances, as a good or evil omen). "Well! what do Icare?" retorted Kikuchi, gulping down a cup of wine. "What do I care for an ugly, red-eyed, prying fox? You believe he's a god, but I know better, and I only wish the thing had hit him."

But O Hana was very sorrowful the rest of the evening, and retired to bed with her children earlier than usual. That night Kikuchi had a terrible dream. The kettle appeared in a flame of fire, and out of the spout was a huge fox-brush. It remained at the foot of his quilts all night and seemed to glare at him with large red eyes. He could not get rid of the apparition, try as he might, and when morning dawned he was worn and irritable with the loss of his night's rest.

During the next day his eldest boy, a bouncing youngster of 7, sickened. The doctor was called in. He examined the patient's eyelids and asked: "Have you been quarreling lately?" Both husband and wife answered, "No." "Have you been drinking too much?" "No." "Have you been blaspheming?" Kikuchi answered, "No." "Has any thing out of the way happened lately?" "Nothing in particular," said Kikuchi, "I was in a bit of temper last evening, with my old kettle, and kicked it away." "Kicked a kettle away!" said the doctor; "that is a bad thing to do, for Kitsune is very fond of kettles. I thought that the child must have a devil, so if he takes a little Furidashi and these 12 pills every half hour with hot water, he will get over it."

The anxious parents tried the Furidashi and the pills, but with no beneficial effect, for the poor little fellow grew worse and worse. The last remedy was tried—the swallowing of the holy picture worn round evesy child's neck, dissolved in hot water, but with no success, for the child died. Still, Kikuchi was not convinced that he had done wrong, but continued to rail at the gods in general and Kitsune in particular, in the wildest manner. The weird apparition still haunted him at night, his fishing produced nothing, no travelers stopped to buy O Hana's fruit, and everything went to rack and ruin. Then O Hana resolved that she would go to the shrine of Inari on the hillside. So, when the morn rose behind the tall, black pine trees, she crept softly away, unobserved by her husband, and knelt at the shrine of the god. "O Kitsune!" she said, with the tears streaming from her eyes, "I am in great distress. Help me!" A blaze of light appeared in the shrine, and in the midst of it she saw the great fox-god. He looked at her for a moment with kindling eyes, merely said, "Find the kettle," and disappeared. As she descended the rough path she saw a red glare in the heavens. A terrible thought came across her mind, and, alas! when she arrived at the village, she beheld her house in flames. Kikuchi and her children standing outside with the few articles they had been able to save, and in the midst of the flames was the fox crying out, "The kettle! The kettle!" Kind neighbors sheltered the homeless family for the night. O Hana told Kikuchi all she had seen, and was glad to find that he was an altered man. Early the next day they set forth to search for the kettle. Along the shore, through the village, on the high road, even to the great town they went, and at last in an old iron shop they found the kettle, much battered and bruised. Tenderly they wrapped it up and carried it back to the village; there the polished it, mended up the holes which had been made in its sides, and together they went to the shrine of Inari, and was rewarded by con peared to O Hana, and in terrible tones he said: "Kikuchi, learn from this lesseon never to mock at the gods; go, and sin no more."

And Kikuchi mended his ways, religously kept the kettle clean and burnished, paid his devotions twice a day at the shrine of Inari, and was rewarded by continual happiness and prosperity.—Romance.

Hand Medicine Co., Gentlemen:

My baby is now three months old and has had colic all her life. We gave her all kinds of remedies without any beneficial effect. I was almost discouraged in trying anything else when a friend told me of your Dr. Hand's Colic cure. I gave her 12 drops which acted like a charm. Now as soon as I discover she has wind colic I give her one or two doses which relieves her entirely. I want to advise all mothers who have fretful babies to use Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I will hereafter always keep it in the house.

THE PINKERTONS SUED.

A Watchman Comes Back for Damages.

He Asks for $20,000 Damages for Injuries Received While at Homestead.

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—The first suit in the local courts growing out of the riot at Homestead on the 6th of last July was begun yesterday in common pleas court by Wm. R. Letar, against Robert A. Pinkerton and Wm. A. Pinkerton trading as Pinkerton's national detective agency.

In his statement of claim Mr. Letar says that he was employed by the Pinkertons to act as a watchman at certain buildings in the state of New York, to which the defendants "then and there falsely and deceitfully pretended to be conducting the plaintiff but the precise location of which the plaintiff was not informed by the Pinkertons."

Then follows the account of Pinkerton's fight with the rioters from the barges at Homestead on the 6th of July. Mr. Letar says that he fell into the hands of the mob, was kicked and beaten with clubs, sticks and stones and seriously injured.

As the result of Mr. Letar being forced to run the gauntlet through the mob, one of his vital organs was permanently injured, and he will be prevented from permanently undertaking the severe manual labor to which he has been accustomed and for which he is only fitted as a means of livelihood. Twenty thousand dollars damages are claimed.

HERE'S THE JOLLY TARS

Who Make Up Toledo's Naval Reserve.

The List Will go to the Governor To-Morrow—Last Evening's Meeting.

The naval reserve is a go. No such enthusiasm has been shown in an organization so young before. When the meeting was called to order at the Ohio Yacht club rooms last evening, the chairman, Col. J. L. Bonner, addressed the gathering, saying that it was most gratifying to see so many representative men present, showing such a warm interest in the naval reserve. "When I look back to the little gathering at Presque Isle not long since, at which the matter was incidentally brought up, and at to-night's gathering, it hardly seems possible," said the colonel. "We are here, however, and I know all are determined to make this organization a success. I thank you all for your interest."

Those who had already been voted in held a meeting while the applicants amused themselves about the rooms. It was a long and lively meeting and argued well for the vim of the organization. Every name presented was thoroughly weighed. Out of some twenty-five applicants seven were rejected. The election of members over, the lists were opened and signed by the following duly elected gentlemen:

Joseph C. Bonner, J. H. Southard, Walter Brown, S. P. Germain, R. E. Rickenbaugh, James H. Pheatt, Henry T. Marshall, G. G. Kelp, Parks Hone, P. Hasenzahl, jr., H. J. Howard, L. L. Barber, Wm. A. Mills H. R. Klauser, Fred A. Fish, Ezra E. Kirk, H. V. Shulters, H. B. Haughton, Geo. W. Stevens, Chas. W. Klauser, H. W. Hamilton, W. D. Carroll, F. B. Hart, F. B. Hartman, H. L. Branson, A. A. Barber, J. M. Kelsey, Roy Conklin, T. H. Dearldorf, R. P. Mathias, W. F. Brown, M.A. Ritchie, Arthur Campbell, Edward A. Kirk, Henry Tracy, H. A. Morrill, H. S. Bissell, B. G. McMechen, T. W. Wheeler, Frank M. Sula, C. G. Wilkinson, Ferris W. Dyar, Chas. G. Robb, A. U. Betts, W. O. Brown, jr., W. S. Stackhouse, J. T. Dempsey, F. L. Baird, Walter Worley, Geo. P. Bralley, L. Vothauer, E. H. Chapman, Herbert J. Chittenden, W. H. Potter and A. W. Payne.

The following gentlemen were also elected but were not present to sign last evening: Wm. C. Clark, J. K. Wales, Geo. Cooke, E. D. Locke, Wm. Beatty, E. O. Reed, Clayton Reed, J. C. Prosser, J. T. Smith, Carl A. Webber, and Daniel Nolan.

Parks Hone acted as secretary in the absence of John Gunckel.

James Pheatt, Wm. A. Mills and T. W. Wheeler were appointed a committee on membership. They will call on those who have not signed, and also pass on new names presented.

The Trinity Cadets desired to enlist in a body, but as it was not known what the limit would be as to age it was thought better to hold their application until later. Col. Bonner will present the list as signed to the governor to-morrow.

FEARS FOR THEIR SAFETY.

Anxiety Felt for the Greenland Fleet.

If They Have Cleared for the South it is Possible They Have Been Lost.

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—Much anxiety is felt in shipping circles here regarding the fate of the fleet of sailing vessels which ply between here and Ivigtut, Greenland, in the cyrolite trade.

For several years the vessels have made two and three voyages each summer, often returning from the first trip as early as Decoration day.

The steamer Fox, a vessel famous for her voyages to the far north, and which during the summer plies between Greenland and Copenhagen, reports that the barks Fluorine, Ivigtut, Platina and Salina were loading at Ivigtut for Philadelphia, and are believed to have sailed in the latter part of June for their destination.

While it is not known whether or not the vessels have been caught in the ice, the delay in arriving has caused some uneasiness.

It is known that more ice, field and bergs, has been seen this year off the Newfoundland coast than ever before, and the Greenland coast must be almost impenetrable for sailing vessels. It is possible that the vessels are still lying at Ivigtut awaiting a chance to see clear water before leaving their anchorage.

TO BUILD A THIRD BRIDGE.

The Mississippi to be Spanned Once More.

St. Louis to Have Another Massive Structure Accross the River.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—The proposal to build a third bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis, and which has been before the public for several years, has taken definite shape, and local and Cincinnati capitalists are now figuring on the work.

The new bridge is to be south of the Eads bridge, and according to the present plans will cost about $6,000,000. A large number of southern railroads are said to have signed contracts to use the new bridge, and the opinion is gaining ground that it will certainly be built.

The enormous business done by the railroads with St. Louis is shown by the fact that the Eads Bridge company is handling more business and tonnage than prior to the opening of the bridge in the north of the city, and it is this fact that has prompted the revival of a project supposed to have been dead for years. The necessary powers to construct this third bridge were obtained from congress before the second bridge was as much as contemplated.

TO KILL MR. FRICK.

He is a Mark for the Anarchist Assassins.

A Plot to Murder the Carnegie Chairman Was Perfected in Vienna.

Pittsburg, Aug. 12.—The Pittsburg Post will publish a story to the effect that the police have discovered another anarchistic plot to assassinate H. C. Frick, the chairman of the Carnegie Steel Co., limited, who was shot by Bergman three weeks ago.

The intended assassin is the Anarchist Aaronstamm of New York, who is a close friend of Bergman's and Emma Goldmann. Aaronstamm has been in the city for several days and it is claimed has been waiting for a favorable opportunity to kill his victim. He is said to resemble Bergman very much, and is armed with a revolver in one pocket of his coat and a dynamite bomb in the other.

The plot was hatched in Vienna, and was given to the New York police by Vice Consul Eberhardt of Austria. The information was given to Mr. Eberhardt by an Austrian, who arrived in New York recently with letters from the high police officials of Vienna, stating that the Austrian's story could be relied upon.

The New York police at once notified the Pittsburg authorities, and a close watch for Aaronstamm is being kept about all the anarchists' resorts. The police have a good description of the fellow and will arrest him on sight.

As a result of the disclosures additional guards have been placed about the Carnegie buildings and Mr. Frick's residence, and detectives accompany him wherever he goes.

Mr. Frick regards these precautions as unnecessary; but his friends insist upon this protection. The matter has been kept secret by the police authorities of New York and Pittsburg, in the hope that they might succeed in capturing Aaronstamm. In this connection it can be said that Secretary Lovejoy has been warned that he has only to the 15th inst. to live. Other officials of the Carnegie company have also received threatening letters. The police are satisfied, however, that they can frustrate the plans of the anarchists.

MARKETS OF THE WORLD

The Stock of Grain in Dealers' Hands.

Comments by the Northwestern Miller.

The Value of Produce in the Toledo Market—Quotations from the Trading Centers.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 116,444 bus., and at five other western points 997,932 bus., aggregating 1,114,376 bus. On the corresponding Friday in 1891 the receipts were 867,899 bus., with only 77,342 bus. of northwest wheat.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 372,801 bus., with flour to an aggregate of 650,000 bus. English markets are inactive and lower for wheat, and dull and unchanged for corn.

Mr. Williams of Moses Baldwin & Farnum estimates the spring wheat crop from government averages 173,000,000 and winter wheat 340,000,000 bus, aggregate 513,000,000. Corn 1,724,000,000. Oats 598,000,000. Estimating old corn in the farmers hands at 250,000,000 gives a supply of 194,000,000. We are willing to disagree on the wheat estimate, as we think 500,000,000 are oustide, but the corn statement look reasonable.

Beerbohm's statement of the official report of the Russian crop is interesting. He places a low estimate on the ability of Russia to export, this year, compared with her former surplus.

A Chicago man says the increase of 1,800,000 bu. of corn on ocean passage came from the Argentine Republic, from whence shipments are now free. Prices in this country have dried up export very much.

Secretary Mahler, of the Kansas Agricultural bureau, now denies that he ever stated that unless rain came within 48 hours the crop of corn would be seriously hurt. It looks as though a good part of the damage occurred in the corn pit at Chicago.

The shearing of the lambs in wheat and corn is the daily performance. One day the lambs are found straying with the bulls, the next with the bears. One would naturally suppose the latter to be unsafe companions, either in wheat or corn, but that is the great living question, and who will decide it? To-day it is the lambs amongst the bulls who are in the shearing pens. Dull and lower English markets, and the movement from farmers' hands continuing largely greater than last year, with lower corn markets, have been too much for wheat prices and they are lower. Our table herein gives the movement of prices on wheat at Chicago St. Louis and New York.

Corn has ruled lower. The news and the weather encourages hopes of a fair crop, but the market for September is claimed to be oversold, and prices will rally on adverse conditions real or fictitious.

The decline on wheat at Chicago at one time was equal to 7-8c on September, but there was a slight reaction at the close. The same was true of courn.

In Toledo the business in wheat has been quite light, and confined to September and December principally. The dull and weak markets around the world seem to have discouraged dealers, and they are disposed to wait and see if low prices can go lower.

On the regular board the market for September started at a loss of 1-2c, gained and lost 1-8c and closed at a loss of 1-2c. December lost 1-4c and cash and August 12c. On the call August sold at 80c; September at 80 1-8c to 80c, and December at 82 7-8c. On the regular board August sold at 79 3-4c and closed at 79 1-2c; September sold at 79 1-2c to 79 5-8c, and closed at 79 1-2c; December sold at 82 7-8c and closed at 82 3-4c; sellers' October sold at 80 5-8c to 80 3-4c.

In cash wheat there was less doing. No. 2 soft sold at 80c, declined to 1-2c, advanced to 3-4c, and closed at 1-2c, a loss of 1-2c. Sales of 50,000 bu. No. 3 soft sold at 74 1-4c to 74 1-2c; September at 74 1-2c; at close there was sellers at 1-2c. Sales, 60,000 bu. cash, and 20,000 September; No. 4 soft at 69 1-2c; rejected No. 1 at 70 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2 at 52 1-2c to 52c; No. 3 at 50c; No. 3 yellow at 52.

Cloverseed, which went up the hill at a strong pace, seems to be returning about as rapidly. To-day prices have made a bad break. On the call October sold at $6.35. After the call October at $6.30 to $6.25, closing at $6.25 for October and November.

The Flour Output.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 12.—The Northwestern Miller says: The flour output this week is practically the same as in the week before, being 193,100 barrels, against 192,615 barrels the week before, 170,650 for the corresponding week in 1891, and 136,272 barrels in 1890. Eighteen mills are running again this week and the daily grind is about the same. The call for flour has been considerably improved the past week, both in this country and abroad, and since Thursday most of the firms here have made liberal sales. For a good deal of this little or no advance has been obtained, but as a rule prices are now being held 10 cents higher. One concern is reported to have booked orders for 500 cars from Friday night until Tuesday, and they are about equally distributed between domestic and foreign markets. As a rule millers are not disposed to sell for later shipment than September. Some millers complain that cash wheat is again unnecessarily high, it having within the week been advanced out of proportion with futures by what some characterize as ostentatious buying on change here. There is considerable bidding all the time on the part of foreigners who are taking a good deal of bakers, though several firms are sold ahead on Red Dog. The shipments to foreign countries last week were next to the heaviest on record, owing to about 35,000 barrels of bakers being shipped from a warehouse here. They amounted to 100,930 barrels, against 72,540 barrels the preceding week. London quotations per 280 pounds C. I. F. are: Patent, 26s. 6d.@27s. 6d.; bakers', 20s. 3d.@21s. 6d.; low grades, 12s.@13s. New England shipments are being held back to some extent in order to obtain the reduction of 6 cents per barrel in differential between the rate to Boston and New York, which is expected to take effect August 15.

JUVENILE ABSCONDERS.

Two New York Messenger Boys Take $3,000 and $850, Respectively.

New York, Aug. 12.—Inspector Steers is searching for two diminutive messenger boys who are supposed to have sailed from this city on the steamship Germania last week with $3,000 of their employer's money.

The names of the boys are not made public, but it is said they were employed in a broker's office on Broad street. One of them, known as Johnny, was intrusted with $3,000 last Wednesday to deposit in the Merchants' Exchange bank.

The money was never deposited, and Johnny has not been seen since.

About the same time the office boy of the United Electric Light and Power company in the Times building, who was known as a friend of Johnny, disappeared with $850 of the company's money.

The boys were traced to the Germania's dock, and it is believed they took passage on the steamer for Liverpool. Inspector Steers has cabled to the Scotland Yard authorities to intercept them, but in the meantime is keeping a sharp look

A TALL CHIMNEY.

The Fourth Largest in the World Now Building in San Francisco.

The largest chimney on the Pacific coast, the third in point of size in the United States, and the fourth in the world, is built in this city. The broad column of bricks is now to be seen high above the roofs of the houses in its vicinity, and it will soon tower above every factory chimney in the city. The structure is being put up by the Edison Electric Light and Power company, on Jessie street, near Third, in connection with a new building 75 feet front, 165 feet deep and 52 feet high.

The chimney will be 175 feet above the pavement, and will rest on foundations, below the street level, of solid concrete nine feet eight inches thick and 28 feet square. The interior diameter for the entire height is to be 12 feet. At the base the chimney has an exterior diameter of 18 feet 6 inches, and the outside diameter of the cap will be 14 feet. Inside, for a height of 75 feet, there will be a detached fire-brick lining, with an air space between it and the interior surface of the chimney. The object of this lining is to protect the chimney from the expansion and contraction incident to the varying degree of heat.

As the base is of concrete so is the topmost ring of the chimney. Laid in the artificial stone of the cap, and intended to bind it firmly together, are seven hoops of one-inch wire rope. Between base and cap machine made brick is used entirely, it being estimated that 275,000 bricks will be required to complete it. The concrete ring will be four feet deep, and the ornamental brick and concrete capital of the chimney will be 16 feet high. The only vertical openings in the chimney will be one about the level of the roof of the buildings, in order to repair the fire-brick lining and to clean it, and one at the base through which to remove soot and ashes.

From the roof an iron ladder will rise outside the chimney to the very top, so as to afford a means to repair the exterior when necessary. This ladder would, if connected by copper wire to the earth, form a lightning conductor. The latter has not been provided, however, it being considered unnecessary, as there is no instance in the history of the city of a chimney or building of any kind having been struck by lightning.

The sole duty required of this enormous chimney is to afford a natural draught to 28 boilers, which will furnish the motive power to six engines of 1,200 horse-power each, or 7,600 joint.

The cost of this chimney is estimated at $10,000, and it will, on account of its height and diameter, be a landmark in the city. The Grant Smelting Works of Omaha, Neb., claim the largest chimney in the United States, 350 feet high and 16 feet interior diameter. The Clark Thread Works, in New Jersey, have a chimney 335 feet high, and at Friburg, in Germany, there is a chemical works with a chimney 460 feet high and the same interior diameter as the local one.—San Francisco Chronicle.

THE TRIUMPH WAS HERS.

A Resolute Little Woman Who Humbled a Haughty Glass-Setter.

There is just now a triumphant little lady on Dearborn avenue, near Chicago avenue, and only a block away is a glazier who is suffering the horrors of defeat.

In the Dearborn avenue house were two broken window panes. One of these was entirely destroyed and the other had only a small corner broken off. The glazier was sent for to replace them.

Now the lady had two small pictures in need of glass and the big pane was just the thing. She would have it cut to fit them and would be so much ahead. But when she had paid the workman the big pane of glass was gone.

She sent the domestic over for it, but the glazier refused to give it up. "It vhas der rules of der shop," he explained, blandly. Then the little woman went over.

"See here, I paid you what you asked for putting in those panes and you've carried off my own glass. I want that glass now."

"Vhell, you pays feefty cents. Der rules of der shop say so."

"I don't care anything about the rules of the shop. You've taken my glass and I want it."

"Vhell, you god outt," he returned, and the little woman retreated.

Later in the evening she went back, accompanied by her husband. The husband, without any preface, walked up to the counter, took up the window-pane and started out with it.

"Police! Police!" shrieked the excited workman, rushing out on the sidewalk. The husband laid the glass down as two officers from the Chicago avenue station hurried up. The situation was explained, and the police told the husband to take the glass if he was certain of the property. When he looked around, however, it had disappeared.

They were outwitted. Justice Kersten was appealed to to recover the property under a criminal warrant. It wouldn't stick. Then the little woman decided to bide her time. It came.

Three mornings later the glazier's boy rung the bell. Did the glazier leave a hammer there the other day?

"Oh, yes," replied the landlady, stoutly.

The glazier needed it very badly.

"That's all right. Tell him it's the rules of this house that we keep all the tools left here. If he wants his hammer tell him to return my glass."

Ten minutes later the boy was at the door with the pane of glass. The landlady took it.

"Tell your boss I was mistaken—he didn't leave his hammer here!" And the door closed with a bang.

Later it was learned that the hammer was left next door.—Chicago News.

ONE DAY OF REST.

Mr. Wilkinson is Afraid to Take Another for Fear He Will Have to Take a Week Off Afterward.

Mr. Wilkinson started to a picnic last Friday with the intention of having a real good time. He never does anything by halves. He did not want to go to the picnic at all in the first place, because he said he could not spare the time from business. He had not wasted a day in over 17 years. His wife and children all insisted that he should go, however, says Nixon Waterman in Chicago Times.

"You are just breaking yourself down from overwork!" declared Mrs. Wilkinson, and I expect some time you will be a complete physical wreck, and all because you won't take a day off and picnic with your family."

"It's just too bad poor papa must work so hard," remarked his daughter Mamie, and all the other members of the family coaxed so much that he finally decided to devote one day to thoroughly refitting his nervous system and putting his muscles in first-class shape for another 17 years of work.

By the time the family reached the park the day had become very hot, but Mr. Wilkinson did not mean to let a little sunshine keep him from enjoying himself. He was out for fun, and he would have it.

A row on the park lake was one of the first things that offered itself. The whole family made quite a load, but Mr. W. was anxious to show them that the stories he had told about how he used to row when a boy were all genuine.

He didn't discover until it was too late that his hands were fearfully blistered and his nose and neck sunburned to a lurid red. Then the family returned to the shady lawn, where the boys started a game of ball.

Mr. Wilkinson used to be a great player, so he says, 20 years ago. But he had forgotten that the yarn ball has been superseded by another that is a first cousin to a croquet ball, and when a hot fly came his way he foolishly put out his hands to stop it.

Fortunately no bones were broken, but a thumb was knocked out of joint. This prevented him from further playing ball, so foot ball was suggested. He was having lots of fun at that and was kicking the ball harder than anybody, when he made an awful drive at it and kicked a tree, laming his foot so that he had to retire from the game.

The hammock was put up for him to rest in, but in attempting to climb into it he showed his unfamiliarity with such things by letting it throw him violently to the ground, where he fell across the croquet box, sadly spraining his back.

Then he had a couch made on the grass, where he fought flies and ants and bugs while the rest of the family had a fine time until the hour for returning home arrived. It was then he discovered that he had taken a fearful cold from lying on the damp ground, and his limbs were stiff and almost immovable.

However, he finally reached home and called a doctor, who prescribed for his blistered nose and neck and hands and his sprained thumb and foot and back, and who gave him some pills and powders and plasters and something to relieve his cold. With the aid of a cab and a crutch he hopes to be sufficiently recovered from his day of rest to get down to his office tomorrow.

Rest is sometimes a bad thing for one who is not accustomed to it.

GOOD LUCK MADE HIM MAD.

Disastrous Result of Finding a Roll of Bills in the Street.

"I have a friend who was driven mad by a marvellous freak of good luck," said Hiram Turner, of Milwaukee, at the Southern. "He was a young newspaper reporter who was just learning the business and who had eked out a precarious existence for a year on $12 a week. Walking along a street one day he found $3,700 wrapped up in a bundle with a rubber string around it. Frenzied with delight at his good fortune, he struck a bee line for the newspaper office where he was employed, resigned his position without assigning any cause, and left Milwaukee on the first train going to Chicago. In that city he lived riotously for eight months, and, though he read advertisements in the papers of the unfortunate bank collector who had lost the money offering one-half of it if the finder would return it, he paid no attention to these appeals.

"At the end of that time he 'blew in' all the money and then came back to Milwaukee. But he was a different man from what he was when he left in such delirious glee. His old position at an increased salary was offered him, but this he refused, though he didn't have a cent. He did no work, nor did he want any. He put in his time walking up and down the street on which he had found the money. Day in and day out he tramped that street, with his head bent forward like a man looking for a pin on the sidewalk. He kept this up for nearly a month. Continual and dogged disappointment made the strain too great for him to bear. His mind broke down under it, and he was carried to the asylum a raving maniac. He is in the asylum now, his lunacy is pronounced incurable, and he is the most pitiable, abject creature I ever saw."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HE THREATENS TO GO BACK.

An Immigrant Who Appreciates His Value to the Community.

A greasy looking tramp who has lived in City Hall Park for three years and whose feet have become as hard as rocks from the frequent rappings upon them from the clubs of the sparrow policemen, took four five-cent whiskeys the other day and mustered up courage enough to march to the mayor's office. He had a paper in his hand. The doorkeeper nabbed him and asked him what he wanted.

"I wish to see Mayor Grant," he said, loftily.

"What about?"

"That's my business."

"Well, if it's your business it isn't public business; git!"

"I desire to enrich the community to the amount of $500."

"All right, hand me a check for it."

"No, that won't do, I want to give the community $1,000 and get $500 change."

"What's your scheme?"

"Read what it says in this paper." And he pointed to the following paragraph:

Reliable statisticians have calculated that every adult immigrant who comes into the country is worth $1,000 to the community.

"Well?"

"I'm an adult immigrant, ain't I?"

"I suppose so. What of it?"

"Well, I'm worth $1,000 to the community, and I propose to have some of it, or I'll get hunk."

"How?"

"Well, if the community doesn't pay me $500 I'll go back. There's a clear gain of $500 in this deal for the community. It's a plain business proposition. Here am I benefiting the city to the extent of $1,000, duly certified to by official statisticians, and I don't get a penny out of it for myself."

"Move on!"—New York Herald.
